NIXON ADDRESSES GERMAN PARLIAMENT . . .

U.S.-Soviet Differences Linked With Arms Talks

Bonn, Germany (AP) — President Nixon said Wednesday he hopes that future arms control talks between the United States and the Soviet Union will also cover political differences.

West Germany's leaders requested that German reunification be part of any such agenda, but White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President indicated no preconditions would be raised.

In an unprecedented appearance before the Bundestag, West Germany's parliament, Nixon said the power of the Atlantic Alliance must be preserved.

Strength Needed

"As we enter what I have described as a period of negotiations with those who have been our opponents," he said, "we recognize that for those negotiations to succeed it is essential that we maintain the strength that made negotiations possible."

The first foreign chief of state ever to address the Bundestag, Nixon spoke in English. He paused after each sentence while his words were translated.

American officials expect the negotiations with the Russians to start within about six months.

Bonn Foggy, Too

Nixon flew from foggy London to foggier Bonn with a pledge of continuing U.S. dedication to the goal of a united Germany. He told Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger that the United States will support whatever course West Germany chooses to pursue in the current Berlin dispute with the Communist East.

He stopped well short of any commitment to his German hosts to put reunification and the futures of divided Berlin on the table at U.S. talks with the Russians.

Kiesinger said on television he felt reassured after the day's talks with Nixon. He said Nixon "stands by our side" and had shown "deep concern" about any new tensions threatening West Berlin.

Consultation Stressed

Nixon has stressed from the beginning of his European tour Sunday that U.S.-Soviet negotiations will be preceded and accompanied by consultation with the allies of the United States.

Guenter Diehl, Kiesinger's spokesman, said the chancellor told the President new initiatives were needed in the quest for reunification of West and East Germany.

The German spokesman quoted Nixon as saying that some people believe he is seeking to negotiate a sort of package settlement with the Soviet Union on a variety of matters, but that this is not the case.

Nixon was quoted as saying there is no direct link between issues dividing the giants of the Western and Communist worlds — but that negotiations on such topics as disarmament would have greater value if coupled with consideration of political differences.

Foreign Minister Willy Brandt suggested that reunification and the future of Berlin be made part of such talks.

The Bundestag speech was, as Nixon noted, his first address as president "before any legislative body in the whole world." He has not yet appeared as president before the U.S. Congress.

The event was televised nationally.

214 Reds Killed Near Bien Hoa

. . . PLANES PLAY ROLE

Saigon (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers dropping load after load of bombs and napalm apparently halted the deepest enemy penetration toward Saigon of the five-day Communist offensive, military authorities said Thursday.

After bloody day-long fighting Wednesday near the huge Bien Hoa air base north of the capital, allied troops reported finding 214 enemy dead and said they took 55 prisoners.

Saigon Said Target

Allied officers say Saigon itself is the primary target of the southward push.

A combined force of American and South Vietnamese troops swept the blasted villages and fields outside the perimeter of the base, 15 miles north of the capital, after the bombardment ended, and encountered no meaningful resistance, spokesmen said.

"For all practical purposes, it's all over," said a military spokesman at Bien Hoa Thursday morning.

The U.S. Command, meanwhile, reported that Communist mortar, rocket and ground attacks on the fifth night of the offensive tapered off slightly from the level of previous nights.

But the attacks listed in initial reports Thursday still pushed the number of enemy indirect fire and ground attacks since Feb. 23 well past the 400 mark — with some targets being pounded four and five times.

Some U.S. intelligence officers have said they believes the enemy offensive is not about to slacken, but may be moving into a new and even more violent phase, with Saigon the key target.

Three battalions of the North Vietnamese-Viet Cong 5th Division had slipped southward past a blockade by the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry for the Bien Hoa battle that raged into Wednesday night. The enemy also dug in at nearby Gia Kien, where they poured heavy fire Wednesday on South Vietnamese rangers trying to retake the village.

Routed By Air Attacks

The air attacks routed the enemy from Gia Kien after the South Vietnamese were thrown back repeatedly.

In a post-bombardment sweep, allied troops moved through the area, probing the shattered houses and bunkers for dead and wounded enemy troops.

Troops in the sweep said they saw "many wounded" — perhaps 50 — being carried away by their comrades.

Over-all, enemy casualties stood at 3,500 killed, according to U.S. Command estimates for the five-day offensive. U.S. battle deaths exceeded 200 and South Vietnamese dead were put at 417.

13 Die In Phuoc Tuy

In Phuoc Tuy, 40 miles east of Saigon, 13 soldiers were killed and 31 wounded in a shelling attack. One person was killed and 19 wounded at Tri Ton in Chau Doc province 125 miles west of the capital.

Because of heavy enemy shelling of cities, U.S. officials take the view that the North Vietnamese are violating the terms of an understanding when President Lyndon B. Johnson stopped the bombing of North Vietnam to get peace talks started in Paris.

Johnson said later it was impossible to have productive talks "in an atmosphere where the cities are being shelled and where the demilitarized zone is being abused."

A declaration by the North Vietnamese foreign ministry Wednesday denied there was any understanding. A statement broadcast by Radio Hanoi indicated the new offensive was touched off by U.S. drives against the enemy in South Vietnam.

Poison-Gas Trains Go Through Cities

Tooele, Utah (AP) — Loaded with poison gas, a 23-car train rumbled onto a siding near this remote town in the western Utah desert. On its way, it passed through heavily populated areas.

The journey last week was no different from many others before it, except this time people from Denver to Salt Lake City knew about it. And they howled.

Only a year ago, more than 6,000 sheep were killed in western Utah by what investigators said was nerve gas from Army testing at nearby Dugway Proving Ground.

Health officials warned there could have been a human disaster if winds had carried the lethal spray over populated areas or reservoirs.

Meanwhile, residents of Denver complained about the storage of nerve gas at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal just outside the city.

The Army announced last year it would move the nerve gas and indicated much of it would go to the Tooele Army Depot, about 20 miles south of Tooele.

How much the Army already has shipped out was not known, but there was an uproar when a train labeled "poison gas" stopped under a busy interchange on the way through Denver the night of Feb. 18.

Earlier that day a train derailed near Crete, Neb., and a tank car full of ammonia burst. Eight persons died.

In Salt Lake City last week, as the Union Pacific train carried poison gas to Tooele, protesters wore gas masks. Congressmen called for investigations.

Others, like Gov. Calvin Rampton, saw nothing to get excited about. "They've been doing it for years," he said.

The Army kept quiet. The people of Tooele generally just shrug and accept it.

Their discomfort over the shipments is outweighed by the money the Tooele Army Depot means to the area. About 5,000 of the 15,000 residents work at the depot.

Tooele County has even offered to accept Sentinel antiballistic missile bases, and their nuclear warheads. The bases would bring still more military money.

The town is tied so completely to the military "it would blow away without it," says Mayor Frank Bowman.

Bowman, who worked about five years at the depot and 11 years at Dugway before he retired, says, "I feel the people taking care of the chemical agents are capable of doing it safely. We've lived with it for a long time. The people really don't pay much attention to it."

ROAD CLOSED SIGN . . . on 52nd between Holdrege and Francis Sts. seems almost unnecessary.

Thawing Makes Many Dirt Streets Impassable

Muddy streets are becoming as much a problem to motorists as the chuckhole problem.

The thawing out of unpaved streets in Lincoln has made driving unpleasant for those using the roads.

Robert Obering, public works director, said crews are placing "road closed" signs on some of the streets on which cars are getting stuck in the deep ruts.

"It has been the policy of the city for many years to only grade the ruts on unpaved streets once the mud dries or the ground freezes," Obering said.

He said that additional gravel would be placed on the streets only if the property owners form a graveling district.

"The graveling job would be given to a contractor with the property owners assessed for the cost of graveling," Obering said.

He said the depth of the ruts is based upon how deep the ground freezes.

Obering said the public works department has received a lot of calls about cars getting stuck on the muddy streets.

Solons Ponder Need For Omaha Voc-Tech School

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Education Committee Wednesday was asked to approve a bill creating a state vocational-technical school at Omaha by proponents who charged the Omaha school system has failed to provide this needed post-high school training.

Sen. Edward Danner of Omaha, introducer of LB177, said the legislation is "not intended for Omaha's Near North Side, but is designed for all Nebraska youth."

Danner said the proposed state school, similar to those at Milford and Sidney, is unrelated to Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann's recommendation for $1 million to enable the Omaha School District to develop a vocational training center in Omaha's Negro ghetto.

Not Provided

"The Omaha school board won't provide the vocational training program for high school 'drop outs' and 'push outs' that I have in mind," he said.

Richard Collins of the Pro Law Association said, "It's time to stop talking money for fixed bayonets and tear gas and provide training for deprived youths."

Other support came from the State Democratic Central Committee and Omaha Urban League.

The Omaha School System indirectly opposed the measure contending the proposed state school would duplicate the Omaha Area Vocational-Technical School authorized in 1968.

Stymied

Assistant School Supt. Edwin Parrish said the Omaha area vocational school has been stymied for lack of federal and state funds.

"If a state school is needed in Omaha," he said, "then it's prepared to serve the 1,600 vocational enrollees now in the Omaha district."

Sen. Orval Keyes of Papillion, a committee member, suggested a state-supported vocational school should be designated for eastern Nebraska, and located outside the Omaha metropolitan area.

No Action

The committee adjourned without action on this bill and three others heard during a lengthy session.

Committee Chairman Lester Harsh of McCook said decisions on the measures would be made next week.

Also heard was a second Danner bill, LB178, providing that beginning in 1971 all American history textbooks used in Nebraska public and private schools "adequately stress contributions of the Negro to the development and growth of America . . ."

The bill would also provide no classroom reading material "considered degrading or derogatory to any ethnic student" be used.

'Off Required Lists'

"We're not saying take these derogatory books out of libraries, but we're saying take them off the required reading lists in the classrooms," proponents told the committee.

Opposition to the measure came from several Omaha and University of Nebraska educators, who sympathized with the intent of the measure, but opposed it as "legislative intrusion into the school curriculum."

"Don't legislate history for any ethnic group," said Max Poole, NU teacher. "We're beginning to recognize the contributions of Negroes to history."

Two other bills, LB287 and LB875, modifying procedures for issuance of high school equivalency certificates and reducing the eligibility age to 18, were also heard.

'Out-Of-Town Group' Is Interested In Purchasing Housing At Air Base

The air base housing area has attracted the interests of a second party.

Kenneth King, chairman of the Lincoln Housing Authority, revealed to Housing Authority commissioners at the close of a special meeting Wednesday that William Swearingen, a local real estate man, had inquired at City Hall during the morning about purchasing the housing area.

Swearingen, when contacted at his home, verified that he did stop at City Hall regarding an interest in the air base housing area.

He said that he had been asked by an out-of-town group to look into the situation but that he was not at liberty to identify members of the group.

Swearingen did say that the group has not made any decision yet about purchasing the housing area.

The Housing Authority decided at its meeting to submit two alternative offers for purchase of the housing area sometime this week to the General Services Administration (GSA), the negotiating agency for the federal government.

The amount of money that the authority is offering for the housing area and the lending agency were not disclosed.

Within 30 Days

The offer requests GSA to decide whether or not to accept the purchase price within 30 days.

Floyd Maynard, realty officer with the GSA regional office in Kansas City, Mo., said Wednesday during a telephone interview that no private group could bid on the property unless the property is made available on the open market.

Maynard said government bodies, such as the Lincoln Housing Authority, have the privilege of negotiating for the property before it can be made available to the public.

Morton To Be GOP Chairman

Washington — The White House announced that Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland would succeed Ray C. Bliss, who is resigning, as Republican national chairman. (More on Page 2.)

4 Die; GM Recalls 4.9 Million Vehicles

Detroit (AP) — General Motors announced Wednesday it is calling in 2.4 million cars and trucks in which exhaust systems might leak fumes into the vehicles and 2.5 million cars with a possibly faulty carburetor part which could cause the accelerator to stick.

The recall of the 4.9 million vehicles is the biggest in auto history.

The death by asphyxiation of four motorists last July spurred an investigation by the auto giant into the possibility of the exhaust system defects.

GM's decision to call the millions of units in for a checkup was described by the firm as "like crawling in a haystack to find a needle." It said only 48 cases of carburetor trouble and 30 cases of exhaust emissions troubles had been claimed by customers out of the millions of vehicles built.

GM said its recall came after months of intensive investigation. GM notified the federal auto safety agency Feb. 17 that it was readying a recall campaign.

It then began notifying owners of 2.5 million 1968 and 1969 Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles Cadillacs, Buicks and GMC trucks equipped with four-barrel quadra-jet carburetors of a potential defect.

In simplest terms, the defective part — worth about a nickel in its initial form — was a tiny fast-idle cam. GM said thorough tests showed that, after extended wear, the cam might crack and ultimately break apart.

"The chances of breakage are very slight, but the cam could cause the carburetor throttle to stick in a partially open position," GM said. This could mean that the car would go out of control.

On the problem of adjustments to 2.4 million 1965-1968 Chevrolets to prevent the possibility of exhaust emissions entering the vehicle, GM said the condition could exist only when the exhaust pipe is substantially out of line or deteriorated from use.

GM said the study of the tailpipe situation was given high priority after the deaths of the four motorists. They were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunt and their niece, Susan Koehler, who were found dead in their 1968 Impala near Heber City, Utah, in July 1968.

In the same month, Mrs. Charles Dunaway was found asphyxiated near Baton Rouge, La., in a 1966 Impala.

GM said there was evidence that the Hunt car's undercarriage, including the exhaust pipes, had been damaged when it went into a large chuckhole.

The auto firm said the three occupants apparently died after traveling some 800 miles in the damaged car. GM said inspection of the Dunaway car showed some rust on the tailpipe.

In addition to the four deaths, GM said it also received reports of motorists suffering nausea or having their eyes hurt and water as they drove along. Some of them blamed the car's exhaust system for the condition.

Service Problem Posed

GM admitted that the influx of 4.9 million cars and trucks into GM dealerships for a check on the potential trouble posed a major problem for service departments.

"We will start mailing out next Monday certified notices to customers informing them of the problem and asking them to come in for a checkup," GM said.

Under federal safety laws, auto manufacturers must notify customers by registered mail — a cost of about 36 cents a letter for postage — plus what observers estimated at about $1 a letter in other costs. Thus the 4.9 million letters would cost about $6.5 million, to be paid by GM which also will assume costs of parts and services in the replacement program.

An industry observer said replacement of the cam part would take only four or five minutes as it would involve releasing a couple of screws, taking off a tiny plastic part and putting another in its place.

The tailpipe and other exhaust items checkup would take a little longer.

Illness May Delay Apollo 9 Launch

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — Stuffy noses and sore throats struck all three Apollo 9 astronauts Wednesday, threatening a delay of Friday's planned launching into earth orbit.

A decision whether to postpone the flight "is expected sometime Thursday morning," the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said late Wednesday. Sources said a delay of one or two days was almost certain.

Doctors ordered the three pilots — Air Force Cols. James A. McDivitt and David R. Scott and civilian Russell L. Schweickart — to bed early.

Morton Is Selected As GOP Chairman

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon ended a political tug of war Wednesday by selecting Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland, his floor manager at the Miami Beach convention, as the new Republican national chairman.

Morton thus emerged the victor in an internal party controversy over a White House plan to install Murray Chotiner, an old Nixon political ally from California, as deputy committee chairman in actual charge of the national GOP organizaton and staff.

That plan went out the window when Morton insisted on assurances that he would be in full control of the committee if he became chairman. Under the original plan for a divided leadership, the tall, burly legislator from Maryland's eastern shore would have served primarily as the GOP's leading spokesman and public relations man.

Chotiner confirmed a White House announcement that he would hold no position with the committee. The 59-year-old Los Angeles lawyer told UPI he had been asked to remain in Washington and had been offered a job in the Nixon administration, which he refused to discuss.

"I am not planning at this time to write my political memoirs," said Chotiner, who managed Nixon's successful House and Senate campaigns in California and his 1952 vice presidential campaign.

The GOP National Committee will meet April 14 to ratify Nixon's choice to succeed Ray C. Bliss, whose resignation Feb. 18 was prompted largely by the White House proposal to move Chotiner into the committee hierarchy.

Banking Chief Aims For 'Disinflation'

MARTIN . . . predicts tight money.

Washington (AP) — William McChesney Martin Jr. conceded Wednesday that the Federal Reserve Board which he heads moved too far toward easy money last year. He promised Congress the board will hold a tight rein in 1969.

"I think we can disinflate without deflation," Martin told members of the Senate-House Economic Committee. "This has never been done before, but I hope we can achieve it."

To flatten out the price-wage spiral without causing serious unemployment and a business recession, he said, will require a gradually intensified restraint, not an abrupt braking.

Surtax Effect Felt

But the slowdown effect of the 10% surtax already is perceptible, Martin said, and "a further slowing seems highly probable" until midyear. Then the country will have to guard against a resurgence of private demand and more inflationary overheating in the second half of the year.

"Whether such a surge in demand will in fact occur cannot be predicted with any assurance, but it would be foolhardy to increase the risk by adding the fuel of easy credit."

Verbal sparring between Martin and the committee chairman, Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., a regular entertainment feature of the annual hearings on the state of the economy, brought occasional titters from the spectators.

Oldest Antagonist

Patman, an easy-money advocate who is Martin's oldest antagonist in Congress, opened his question period by assuring the Reserve Board chairman he was not waging a vendetta against him.

"I have never charged you with anything bad," Patman said.

"Just malfeasance," prompted Martin, in smiling reference to an incident at last year's hearing.

"I have accused the Federal Reserve Board of malfeasance, nonfeasance and misfeasance" Patman conceded amiably.

Then he lit into Martin — using the terms malfeasance, misfeasance and nonfeasance — for allegedly having allowed interest rates to rise so high during Martin's 18-year chairmanship as to be an "extortionate, disastrous" burden on the public.

Interest rates paid by the U.S. Treasury have doubled during Martin's regime, Patman said, and this alone will cost the taxpayers $8 billion this year.

Israeli Leader's Death Means Power Struggle

Jerusalem (AP) — The death of Prime Minister Levi Eshkol has thrown Israel into an internal power struggle at one of the most critical times in its 20-year history.

As border incidents have recently escalated to alarming proportions, Eshkol's death from a heart attack Wednesday was expected to open the floodgates to a tide of political infighting. Eshkol was 73.

For the time being — until the official period of mourning ends after at least seven days — Deputy Prime Minister Yigal Allon, an Oxford-educated former major general, is in charge.

But the Knesset, Israel's parliament, must elect a new government to run the country until the national elections in November. Obviously, whoever holds the premiership over these months will be heavily favored to stay in power for a full term of four years.

There are three main candidates: Allon, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and former Foreign Minister Golda Meir, once a Milwaukee teacher.

Selection Of Jury Slows In Davis Murder Trial

By CRAIG CALLAWAY
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Grand Island — Six prospective jurors who had been passed for cause were excused from jury duty in the Thomas F. Davis murder trial Wednesday afternoon, after being challenged peremptorily by the prosecution and defense counsel.

The six left after three days of jury selection. Thirteen more prospects who had been passed for cause remained.

Davis, 32, is accused of murdering his 29-year-old wife, Phyllis, last Aug. 14 and is being tried in Hall County District Court before Judge Donald Weaver. Davis' defense is headed by John Mitchell of Omaha and the prosecution is being led by former District Judge R. M. Van Steenberg of Scottsbluff.

25 Questioned

As of the end of examinations Wednesday a total of 25 prospective jurors had been questioned. Of those, 13 remained prospects. The six had been released after peremptory challenges, three had been excused by the judge for employment reasons, one had been excused after a private conference with the judge, one was challenged by the defense and excused, and one was challenged by the prosecution and excused.

Wednesday's activity included a motion for mistrial by Mitchell, which the judge overruled.

Toward the end of the day Judge Weaver said he was going to "consider" reversing his order to the reporters that they not report the questions and answers verbatim. His remarks indicated that he thought the matter which led to Mitchell's motion for mistrial might have been avoided were there no such restrictions.

The judge said he would let the reporters know definitely Thursday morning.

Attendance by the general public Wednesday ranged from one person to 12 or 14 persons. Of those eight were students at a Grand Island business college who were excused from class to view the trial.

At Wednesday's conclusion of activities, the state had eight peremptory challenges remaining at its disposal and the defense also had eight. The defense had started with 12 allowable and used four Wednesday; the state had begun with 10 and used two.

Another Chance

Judge Weaver indicated that they would build the number of panel members passed for cause back up to 18 and then give counsel another chance for peremptory challenges.

Davis sat almost still during the deliberations Wednesday, as he had the first two days of the jury selection, only occasionally leaning to his counsel for a quick comment. He had a pad of paper before him and occasionally made notes, but mostly he just stared intently at each prospective juror as he or she was being questioned.

Mistrial Motion Overruled

Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Grand Island — Hall County District Court Judge Donald Weaver Wednesday afternoon overruled a defense motion asking for a mistrial in the case against Thomas F. Davis, charged with murdering his wife last Aug. 14.

John Mitchell, Davis' chief attorney, brought the motion based on a Wednesday story in the Omaha World-Herald by Bill Billotte. Mitchell said that part of the story was "totaly inaccurate" and gave the "exact opposite" of the defense's contention in reference to the proof or lack of proof of the guilt of the accused.

Mitchell noted to the judge that he has pointed out to each prospective juror that the defense has absolutely no responsibility in establishing the innocence of the defendant, and that the entire burden of responsibility for proving guilt lies on the state.

In overruling the motion Judge Weaver noted that he had cautioned each juror passed for cause during the examinations to pay no attention to any media account of the case.

Billotte told other reporters after the motion was overruled that the story had appeared just as he had phoned it in to the World-Herald.

Both Mitchell and Judge Weaver took the time to thank the press for its able job, in general, of covering the trial thus far. Noting that there was exactly one member of the general public present in the courtroom Wednesday afternoon, the judge said, "The press is going to be responsible for whatever 'public' trial we have."

Bellevue Voters Okay $3 Million School Proposal

Bellevue (AP) — Voters in Bellevue have approved on a two-to-one margin a $3 million bond issue for schools.

The School Board has described the project as urgently needed. The bonds will provide most of the financing for a five-year expansion program that is expected to cost four million dollars.

Planned as a result of the vote—of 1,315 to 609 — are a gym, cafeteria, industrial arts building and 28 additional classrooms for the junior high school, a multipurpose addition at one elementary school, four new classrooms at another elementary school, a library, multipurpose room and 12 more classrooms at another elementary school, and an industrial arts department at a second junior high.

Dakotan Draws Prison Sentence

Chadron (AP) — A Rapid City, S.D., man, Vernon C. Langdeaux Jr., 34, has been stentenced to two-to-six years in state prison on a burglary conviction.

Langdeaux pleaded guilty to the charge in Dawes County District Court. The charge stemmed from the theft of $800-$1,000 worth of items from a cabin 10 miles east of Crawford last June 25.

He was returned to the Box Butte County jail to face a burglary charge there.

Two Killed In Crashes

By The Associated Press

Twp persons lost their lives Wednesday in separate highway crashes in Nebraska. The victims were:

Harold Haack, 57, Lodgepole.

Sgt. Donald D. Lewis, 40, Omaha.

A Cheyenne County highway employee, Haack was killed when the gravel truck he was driving went off a county road and overturned about 12 miles north of Potter.

Cheyenne County Attorney Don Tedesco said Haack was alone in the vehicle and he said there was no apparent cause for the accident.

Sgt. Lewis was killed in a two car collision on U.S. 73-75 just south of Omaha.

The State Patrol said Lewis, attached to the Air Police Unit at Offutt Air Force Base, was enroute to work at the time of the accident.

The Patrol said the other car was driven by Sgt. Robert M. Pitch, also attached to the Air Police Unit, who was enroute home from work at the time.

Pitch apparently escaped serious injury, but was hospitalized at Offutt for observation.

The deaths raised the 1969 Nebraska highway toll to 57, compared to 71 on this date one year ago.

Three Victims Ammonia Blast Buried At Crete

Crete (UPI) — Burial services were held here Wednesday for the three transients who were among the eight persons killed here last week in the explosion of an anhydrous ammonia rail tank car.

The transients were identified as Bill G. Walker, 29, of Kansas City, Mo.; Alvie Smith, 25, address unknown; Kenneth Richard Smith (apparently no relative of Alvie Smith), 30 of Bridgeport, Ala.

The FBI said identification was made through fingerprints.

Retired Fireman Dies At Age 77

A retired City Fire Department senior captain, William A. VanLandingham, died Wednesday at the age of 77. Services will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday at Umberger's Mortuary, 48th and Vine.

VanLandingham, of 1417 Sumner, retired in 1951 after 21 years with the fire department.

A veteran of World War I, he had been a Lincoln resident for 38 years.

Survivors include his wife, Nellie and three daughters, including Mrs. George McCabe and Mrs. Robert Thompson, both of Lincoln.

Fund Drive For Homes At $150,000

The Tabitha-Madonna campaign to raise $500,000 has netted about $150,000, campaign officials said at the first report meeting Wednesday.

Of this amount, $63,000 was collected from home board solicitations, $28,000 from special gifts and $26,323 from employes of the homes. The employes also passed their goal of $25,000.

The special gifts division goal is set at $175,000.

The Tabitha-Madonna Trust is holding the campaign to help finance a $3.65 million building and expansion program which would add 169 beds to the two nursing homes.

Funds beyond the $500,000 will be provided by the federal government and the churches which sponsor the homes.

A backup report meeting will be held at the Lincoln Center at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Earlier Friday at 2:30 p.m. in the Tabitha Staff Building, officials of the campaign will hold a special tea for women employes at Tabitha who alone pledged $14,523.

Ice Jams Cause Flooding Along Big Muddy Lowlands

By The Associated Press

The Missouri River at Nebraska City and downstream inched upward Wednesday due to ice jams, both within the stream itself and the various tributaries which feed it.

Big Muddy stood at 17.3 feet at 6 p.m. Tuesday, but by Wednesday morning had climbed to 19.32 feet at Nebraska City, or 1.32 feet above flood stage.

Lowlands were flooded over a wide area, with one observer reporting that ice jams continued on the river to Rulo in the southernmost area of the state.

The Iowa side of the Missouri in the Nebraska City region, apparently was getting the most water. Seepage was considered a problem.

The Omaha Weather Bureau said fluctuations are expected to continue due to ice action in the river. It was estimated the river had ice for at least 100 miles, some of it four feet thick.

A veteran observer at Nebraska City said the river would need to rise another seven or eight feet before the city itself was in trouble. He described the situation "as not serious at this time."

Broer Submits Low Bid On Work At Beatrice Home

W. J. Broer Construction Co. of Lincoln was the apparent low bidder Wednesday for remodeling of Ward L-1 in the L Building at the Beatrice State Home, according to officials at the State Department of Public Institutions.

The bid was $45,450. The only other bidder was Beall Construction Co. of Lincoln, which submitted a bid of $47,444.

Summary of Conditions

The latest surface map shows a semi-stationary front acting like a warm front through southern Kansas and into a low in eastern Colorado. By noon Thursday the low will move into south central Kansas and a weak cold front out of the low will move into west central Texas. A warm front, also from the low center, will move into northern Arkansas. Some overrunning precipitation is expected into Nebraska and western Iowa from this system but amounts will be light as moisture is still lacking.

Skies will be cloudy through Friday and temperatures will be cool. There is a chance of drizzle or light rain in southern portions and light rain or snow in northern portions Thursday. Central Nebraska has a slightly better chance of scattered snow than rain or drizzle. The chance of occasional light rain or snow exists in western Iowa and eastern Nebraska Thursday night and into Friday morning in western Iowa.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It could be an enlightening meeting the Lincoln School District Board of Education has March 18 with students. The board has asked that students appear at that meeting to discuss with it the matter of curriculum.

The board, of course, also has its consultants who have made reports and recommendations to it in all areas of curriculum in anticipation of the 1969-70 year. And when it comes to curriculum, you automatically get into some other areas.

Curriculum includes not only what you offer, but how you offer it — the conditions under which a course of instruction is given. Immediately, this involves such things as proficiency of the teaching staff, size of classes, consulting services, etc.

In vocational education, for instance, it has been recommended by the staff that improvement be made in placement and follow-up programs for students. In the field of art, curriculum discussion entered into the adequate size of physical plant facilities and lack of adequate equipment, among a host of other things.

And so it goes through the entire network of course offerings. The system is looking, in addition to the above, at English, math, reading, home economics, business administration and others.

The plan now to consult with students has merit in several regards. It is laudable, of course, that the system engage in this kind of self-analysis, an action that needs to be followed in both public and private education.

The one thing that changes most in our society should be our educational system. It is here that we find the best of the past and the greatest promise for the future, but not without constant change.

The board may well get two things from the students. One, it should receive some specific recommendations of merit. As every parent knows, there is hardly a student who does not believe there are improvements that could be made if only there were the inclination to do so.

Some of the student suggstions may be more expensive than can be afforded and some of them, too, will be without much merit. But this is no different for the students than for the professional adult consultants.

The professionals can come up with some real bombs, too, and this ought to encourage the students to a liberal presentation of their views. If they have a thought, they should express it and let the idea be fully aired.

What might appear at first as a radical scheme can often be refined into a highly constructive and practical endeavor. A great many good ideas have started out as pretty far-fetched notions and ended up as significant contributions to society.

Secondly, the students may well convey the fact that education is a two-way street — teaching and learning. Failure in the educational process can be the result of either bad teaching or unreceptive or unmotivated students.

Educators need to know and remember that when a young person fails to learn what he should or can, the fault can lie with either the student or the teacher.

Additionally, the scheduled meeting has merit by involving the students in the whole process of education. Certainly, with the activities taking place in higher education today, no one needs to be told that the voice of students demands to be heard.

It is a far better thing that we invite this hearing than have it forced upon us. We hope the students respond to this opportunity and make the most of it.

'Our First One-Man Mixed Reception'

U.S. Should React To Red Drive

The United States is paramountly interested in achieving an honorable settlement in Vietnam and not an escalation of the war. Events over the past four days, however, dictate a serious reassessment of U.S. strategy in the war, with consideration of a possible resumption of bombing of the north.

The latest communist offensive, including both a step-up of ground warfare and a coordinated shelling of nearly 200 cities, villages and bases in South Vietnam, is a significant development militarily and diplomatically.

Whether this country should react to the enemy moves as a clear cut violation of the conditions under which former President Johnson ordered the bombing halt last year or whether this is only a "last-gasp" offensive designed to give the communists a diplomatic advantage in the Paris peace talks is now being cautiously studied by President Nixon and his advisors. There have been a lot of last-gasp offensives, though, and this new show of force, even if it is disastrously costly to the north, should reaffirm the belief that Hanoi has no intention of ever giving up its goal of crushing the present government of the south and instituting in its place a communist dictatorship.

There is no reason to believe that the Hanoi negotiators in Paris have changed or will ever change their line. That is, that the United States get out without any questions asked and let the terrorists rule what is left of Vietnam. They are an intractable foe, not easily dissuaded by sacrifice.

This country should not look for an excuse to add to the inhumanity of this horror, but if our military position in Vietnam as well as the welfare of hundreds of thousands of innocent civilians is seriously imperiled, we should consider a countermove in strength.

Streets Beyond Belief

While much has already been said about the condition of Lincoln streets, there is hardly too much that can be said. Their condition at the present time is nothing short of awful. In some areas, there is what appears to be a gravel base under the asphalt or concrete that is being heaved to the surface and scattered for blocks.

Drivers give every appearance of being intoxicated as they try to maneuver their vehicles in an impossible attempt to avoid the holes. One person describes some of the holes as so bad that you could lose your car in them. Some streets are in such terrible condition that is is impossible to see how they could be adequately repaired without a whole new resurfacing job.

Still, one hears very little out of City Hall, either the mayor's office or the City Council, about what the future holds. It would seem that both would be interested in what the extent of the repairs is going to be, where the money is coming from, how long it will take and how good a job is going to be done.

And some councilman, it seems, ought to be interested in a report on conditions beyond the fact that it has been a bad winter. The bad winter has simply capitalized on the inviting conditions of decay that existed. The good streets have pretty well survived the bad winter, which means we have in Lincoln a horrendous mileage of inadequate and outdated paving.

Added Thoughts

Wilcox, Neb.

The remarks of W. O. Stephens of Milford, Nebraska, appearing in a recent issue of The Star are completely in agreement with my own thinking. I would just like to add more to his remarks, entailing the agriculture of the preceding 16 years.

We still have the same brain trust advocating bigger and more efficient farms. How about more efficient politicians?

The farm problem consists of more capital investment and higher interest rates which add to the cost of farm production. Farm parity is 50 years old. The USDA expects the farmer to be up-to-date with production with horse-and-buggy prices. Also they have a program that they call a farm subsidy program with 10% of the farmers drawing 90% of the money, and vice-versa — 90% of the farmers drawing 10% of the money. We must note the fact that the USDA collects 70 cents per bushel from the U.S. miller on every bushel. He pays out to this same complying farmer 35 cents for wheat certificates. The prices of wheat in Canada and the U.S. verify this. This farm program or "steal" has been in effect for the past 16 years. Are we not overdue for a more pleasant change?

Benson wrecked the program under Eisenhower, and Freeman under Johnson. Will Hardin be the scapegoat under Nixon? During the same period, we have allowed the ghetto population to increase, the farm population to decrease, created more and bigger monopolies through these real good government practices. Also we have allowed the politician to get his hands deeper into the people's pockets to fill his own pocket through salary increases.

Income taxes are long past due to rectify the injustices done to people of the $3,000-to-$25,000 tax bracket. Some of the inequalities are the oil-rich syndicates and trusts and foundations which serve no public purpose and are only tax escapes.

Relative to state government: Tiemann has steadily increased the budget from year to year. His explanation is that Morrison never did anything. But Morrison never appointed anyone as a department head who had three suspensions on his driver's license. There are still citizens of the state of Nebraska who admire character and desirable reputation as requisites for public office.

Friendly Coyotes

Stratton, Neb.

In answer to the letter from Harold Vanduvall in the Feb. 20 Star, it seems that the author has left many words unsaid. It would appear that he considers himself an authority on Midwest wildlife and has resided in this area only since 1966.

The condemnation of the lowly coyote and blaming him for the drop in our pheasant population is most basically unsound. Statistics will prove that 90% of the coyotes diet consists of rodents, vegetation and fruit, in season. True, I must admit we will have rogue coyotes that will kill lambs, calves and young pigs in order to survive. These are either old coyotes or ones that have been crippled by a misplaced shot or caught in a trap, losing a foot or leg. By the same token, we have rogues in the human race but no one demands we put a bounty on all humans for the mistakes of a few.

May I suggest to Mr. Vanduvall he best check with the State Game Commission and use his influence to lower the possession limit of pheasants and forget about condemning the lowly coyote who is a friend of the farmer and rancher whether he knows it or not.

Sorry I cannot agree with Mr. Vanduvall on this cause of the drop in the pheasant population. Evidently someone has steered him way out into left field on the subject and left him aloof.

A Tall Tale

Lincoln, Neb.

Isn't Mr. Gordon Lell the witty one (Star, Feb. 24) with his supercharged imagination, the teller of tall tales. Does he believe folks will be huddling in fright at his mirthful spreading of laughter regarding fluoridation?

Some people don't like to follow new paths and some are slower readers, just as said doctor is still five years behind time with only 15 years to his credit.

About that metropolitan street clutter and the dentist of the future, Mr. Lell must be kidding.

ANITA CLARK

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

February, the shortest month of the year, is about to bid us adieu. It is none too soon to suit me, what with all the fog and snow we have had.

Now I can ponder the month of March. Will it come in like a lion or a lamb? Will it romp or rage its way through the next thirty-one days?

Winter is slowly losing its grip, I notice. The almost-zero temperatures we have been having the past week have vanished quickly with the morning sunlight. By noon the water is dripping from the house and the snow is slushy underfoot. One could never expect this to happen in mid-winter. The cold that crept across the land at that time stayed around for several days before moderating.

One of the highlights of my February days was a delightful letter from an eighty-six-year-old gentleman I have come to know through this column. He enclosed this verse stating it is about what he has been doing all winter. Although he reads the papers to keep posted on politics and corresponds with his son who is a professor in Goteberg University in Sweden, he has been forced to discontinue the reading of books because of his sight. It was because of our mutual respect for the writings of Hal Borland that began our correspondence.

I only hope I have as much humor left for my old age as these words in verse signify and can appreciate my plight with such a wholesome attitude as this gentleman has.

When I was young my slippers were red,
I could kick my heels right over my head.
When I grew older my slippers were blue
But I could still work all day through.

Now I am old my slippers are black,
I walk to the corner and puff my way back.
I get up each morning and dust off my wits
Take up the paper and read the obits.
If my name's missing I know I'm not dead,
I eat a good breakfast and go back to bed.

The Farmer is going to try again this week to get our Angus calves to our local sale barn. Twice before he has made plans to truck them in, only to have it storm the night before and block our roads. He is hoping the next blizzard, if such the case may be, will hold off until he gets the calves on the road.

There are nineteen of them, frisky, strong willed and crafty critters that must be separated from their mothers . . . no child's play, to say the least. He does not relish the idea of sorting them and penning them for trucking, only to have to turn them out again while the snow comes tumbling down.

Maybe this week — and I say it with my fingers crossed — the calves will go to market.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

Stealing From Boss A General Practice

NEW YORK — Throughout America, hundreds of new retail stores are opening up—stores with no names on the windows, but plenty of merchandise inside; stores where the customer looks at a price-tag, and then hears a salesgirl whisper in her ear "You can take 50 per cent off that price."

"These stores," says Saul Astor, "are not the hallmarks of a booming economy. They are the symbols of a soaring larceny rate. The merchandise is stolen. It is brand-name quality goods.

"And these stores represent the more than three billion dollars a year that employes are robbing from their managements."

Astor is president of a Manhattan-based firm with a more than 60-man staff of investigators who try to uncover corruption in big businesses. In many years in the business, he has discovered that employe theft has grown each year. In 1968, projected figures show that —out of 70,000,000 employable Americans — there were 25,000,000 larcenies. That means that one in fewer than three employes steals from the boss.

The corruptness of employes has an ironic side, too. People tend to steal from generous, likeable bosses even more than they steal from the tight-fisted Scrooges.

Saul Astor gave an example. "A meat packer in a Midwest town invited his workers to take home five pounds of meat a week—free. He was kind. The workers were very delighted. But within a very short time, each worker was taking home an average of 75 pounds of free meat each week."

Astor smiled, sadly. "A New York dress shop manager saw that one of his salesgirls really wanted a dress, so he said generously, 'I know you want this, so I'll mark it down from $30 to $20.' She was happy. And the next time she wanted a dress, she picked up the tag and marked it down herself."

Astor pulled out some reports of jobs his large team of investigators had completed. One was a New York City auto dealership in which the manager had been losing $75,000 annually. He suspected an employe was responsible, but couldn't figure out which one.

"An employe? This dealer employed 80 men. Of those, 60 were stealing from him."

Then there are the poor, besieged supermarkets where not only do customers help themselves to illegal largesse, but some check-out cashiers cost the management thousands of dollars a week "by ringing up only every other item of merchandise when friends or family check out of the store."

Astor told the story of one small boy who worked as a general helper at a supermarket — to keep his old grandfather, who ran a grocery nearby, in business.

"Everyday the boy carried out hundreds of dollars worth of 'trash' — right to Grandpa's place."

Corruption begins early. And it continues. Easily half of the apprehended shoplifters are teenage or under.

When the firm closes a case and the guilty employes have been either jailed or fired (depending on their offenses), a business is usually "clean" for awhile. "But employes' memories are short. And hope springs eternal." In a few months, unless the management continues to keep a tight control on the inventory, the same rate of theft returns.

"It's a dreadful shame, but I see no sign that the corruption rate is going anywhere but up," says Astor.

He is sad. He is successful.

French And British Diplomacy Has Lost Aura Of Maturity In Violation Of Normal Procedure

NEW YORK—One of the misfortunes of President Nixon's visit to Europe is that the French and British, by violating the diplomatic principles they gave to the world, have got in the way of reappraisal and reconciliation of allied policy that all the allies wanted.

"A diplomatist," wrote Francois de Callieres in 1716 in what remains probably the best diplomatic manual ever written, "should remember that open dealing is the basis of confidence; he should share freely with others everything except what it is his duty to conceal . . ."

President de Gaulle knew on Feb. 4 that President Nixon was coming to Europe (though Nixon did not announce it until Feb. 6), and the French president did not let Nixon know he was proposing to transform the Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty, which Nixon was going to Europe to discuss.

Meanwhile, the British, who have been the greatest advocates of thinking quietly instead of feeling wildly, felt they saw in General de Gaulle's proposal a trap to embarrass them with Nixon and their Common Market associates, and violated the secrecy of his communication — though the British usually are the most eloquent defenders of the inviolability of diplomatic intercourse.

There were, of course, reasons for doing so on both sides. For pure snootiness, General de Gaulle's opposition to his Common Market allies, to the British, and to America's role in NATO would be hard to match, but even so, it is a policy and he has a right to it.

At the same time, the British and the non-French Common Market members had the right to try to circumvent the French veto by trying to reach common policies on common political problems through the Western European Union, a separate organization. And it apparently was the progress of this effort that led President de Gaulle to suggest in secret that maybe the British would like to talk about a wholly new economic and military organization of Europe, including Britain but not the United States.

Where the British violated their own normal procedures was in not going back to the French president and explaining that they could not in good faith keep his proposals secret from the other allies, whose interests were obviously affected by General de Gaulle's suggestions. Instead, they told the allies first and informed the Paris government about it later.

The effect of this has been to surround Nixon's visit with an atmosphere of mistrust and recrimination, which amounts not only to bad diplomacy but bad manners, which, ironically, are the two sins Paris and London have charged against Washington for almost 200 years.

They are searching for something new and different. Even after the flap between London and Paris, but before they had calculated the depth of the feeling in Europe about General de Gaulle's private proposals to the British, some of the most influential men around President Nixon were saying that almost any new organization of Europe with Britain in might be better than the present organization of Europe (if that is the right word) with Britain out.

But the awkward diplomacy of Paris and London has now created a political problem in the United States, which only complicates things for a new American president. The Atlantic alliance faction here is furious at President de Gaulle, as usual, and those who prefer a strong, unified Europe merely bound to the United States in case of a general war are sore at the British for over-reacting and making the crisis even worse than it had to be.

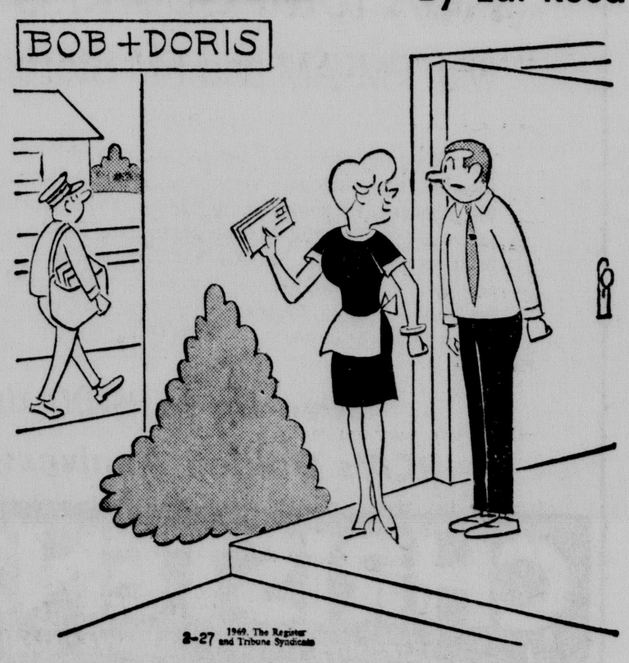
OFF THE RECORD By Ed. Reed



"What an easy life, Bob—three bills and four offers of money from loan companies."

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Three Elderly Brothers Are Healthy, Wealthy And Wise

By ROBERT PETERSON

Quite a few of those past age 65 are in poor health and pinched circumstances. But there are many elder Americans who enjoy physical vigor, have sufficient money to live comfortably, and savor life to the hilt.

A trio in the latter group are the Hammer brothers. All three are healthy, wealthy, and wise, and can look back on lives touched with adventure and success.

"Our father was a doctor who came from Russia," said youngest brother Victor, 67, as we sat in his handsome paneled office at famed Hammer Galleries on New York's 57th Street.

"Dad saw to it that my elder brother Harry became a pharmacist, and that my middle brother Armand became a doctor. I wanted to be an actor. As things turned out, none of us followed our original career intentions.

"When the famine of 1921 swept Russia there was an appeal for American doctors, so Armand volunteered. But in Russia Armand found less interest in medicine than in providing grain for the starving. Soon he was engaged in multiple enterprises which included importing Ford cars and tractors, and setting up a lead pencil factory.

"I joined my brother in Moscow and was soon completely involved in business. We began buying up Russian art objects, and when we returned to the U.S. in 1929 established our first gallery in a loft building. We studied everything we could about the art business and, with our stockpile of Russian items, soon won a niche in the art world.

"We three brothers still own the business which grosses about $5 million a year. Harry and I are on deck most of the time. Armand is spiritual head but has other business interests, too. He's currently living in Los Angeles where he's chairman of Occidental Petroleum Corporation. This year our gallery is celebrating its 40th anniversary with a loan exhibition of paintings."

Can art enrich a man's retirement? "Oh, yes, collecting fine art can become a fascinating, absorbing avocation. If you haven't the money to buy great paintings, you can enjoy the thrill of discovering little-known painters who may one day become great. And if you can't afford originals you can still derive enormous pleasure buying reproductions of the most valuable pictures in the world."

Does he notice his age? "Funny thing, but I really don't. All three of us brothers are blessed with good health and work we love. I can't imagine any of us voluntarily retiring to a life of leisure. My wife and I enjoy traveling. We go to Europe once or twice a year, and have an apartment in Florida we visit regularly. But purposeful work is the stuff that makes life exciting. I wouldn't be interested in retirement."

If you would like a booklet, "Basic Health Rules for Folks Past 40," write Robert Peterson, c/o Dispatch Letter Service, 25 W. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10036, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

This Week's Health Tip

Here's a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Would you know what to do if you or a friend felt a fainting spell coming on? You can help.

If a person feels faint, seat him and fan his face. Lower his head to his knees, and if he becomes unconscious, lay him down with his head turned to the side, loosen his clothing, and open the windows. If they are handy, wave smelling salts or aromatic spirits of ammonia under the victim's nose.

After consciousness returns, keep your friend lying quiet for at least 15 minutes. If a faint last for more than a few minutes, send for a physician.

If you should find someone lying unconscious, assume he has a possible head injury and avoid moving his head or any part of the body.

Get help immediately!

Nixon College Stand Backed

© New York Times Service

Washington — Leaders of the National Governors' Conference pledged their support Wednesday to efforts to keep the nation's campuses safe and open for "the vast majority of students who are seeking to exercise their educational opportunities."

"We join with others who share a responsible role in pledging actions which will ensure the continuation of these opportunities," the executive committee of the conference said in a resolution.

The governors specifically endorsed President Nixon's stern stand against campus disruption earlier this week and declared that "lawless acts by a small segment of the student population must not be allowed to interfere" with higher education for the majority.

At Nixon's request, the governors will discuss the student unrest issue Thursday with Vice President Agnew and some members of the Cabinet.

The resolution avoided any call for federal action or intervention in the spreading campus conflict. Nixon, in a letter to the president of Notre Dame University made public Monday, had suggested considering action at both the state and federal levels.

Avco Gets Contract

Washington (UPI) — Avco Corp. has obtained a $12.6 million Army contract to provide aircraft and helicopter engines.

Lodge Says Peace Talks Making Gains

© New York Times Service

Paris — The chief United States negotiator, Henry Cabot Lodge, said Wednesday he believed that "some progress" was being made at the Vietnam peace talks here.

Conceding that progress was "not very rapid," Lodge explained: "These things move along in a way that's rather hard to define. Some groundwork is being laid, and I think something will come out of it."

Lodge's remarks, made to reporters after a 30-minute meeting with Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam, revived speculation about possible secret contacts between the U.S. and North Vietnamese delegations here.

No visible progress in the talks was achieved in the five formal plenary sessions since Jan. 25, and none is expected for the sixth roundtable meeting Thursday.

It was generally thought here that the United States and South Vietnamese side would protest against rocket and mortar attacks on South Vietnamese cities since Sunday.

Sources close to the delegations of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong National Liberation Front declared Wednesday that any protest would be sternly rejected.

Avisun Ups Price

Philadelphia (UPI) — Avisun Division of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) is increasing the prices of all grades of polypropylene homopolymer by one-half to one cent a pound.

Not Even Fit For Gardens

St. Louis, Mo. (UPI) — Marble Craft Inc. has 60 five-ton blocks of marble that are beginning to look like white elephants.

"The color is bad, they are not commercially salable and their rectangular shape doesn't even qualify them as decorative rocks for gardens or yards," company president Rich Coerver said.

New Oil Leak Said Not In Well

Washington (AP) — An Interior Department oil expert said Wednesday the latest seepage of oil around a drilling rig in the Santa Barbara channel apparently comes from oil-laden formations, and not from an oil well as previously reported.

The Interior Department earlier in the day said Secretary Walter J. Hickel had ordered emergency equipment and technical personnel to the channel off the cost of California to cope with what was described as oil leaking from a second well. This well had been drilled from the same platform as another well which had released a large oil spill three weeks ago.

But Russell G. Wayland, chief of the conservation division of the U.S. Geological Survey, said personnel on the scene reported there was no new leak from either well although operations in the second well may have touched off some increasing oozing from the saturated sands.

Democratic Party Group To Meet

Washington (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern, D-SD., announced Wednesday the first meeting of the Democratic National Committee's reform commission, which he heads, will meet here Saturday.

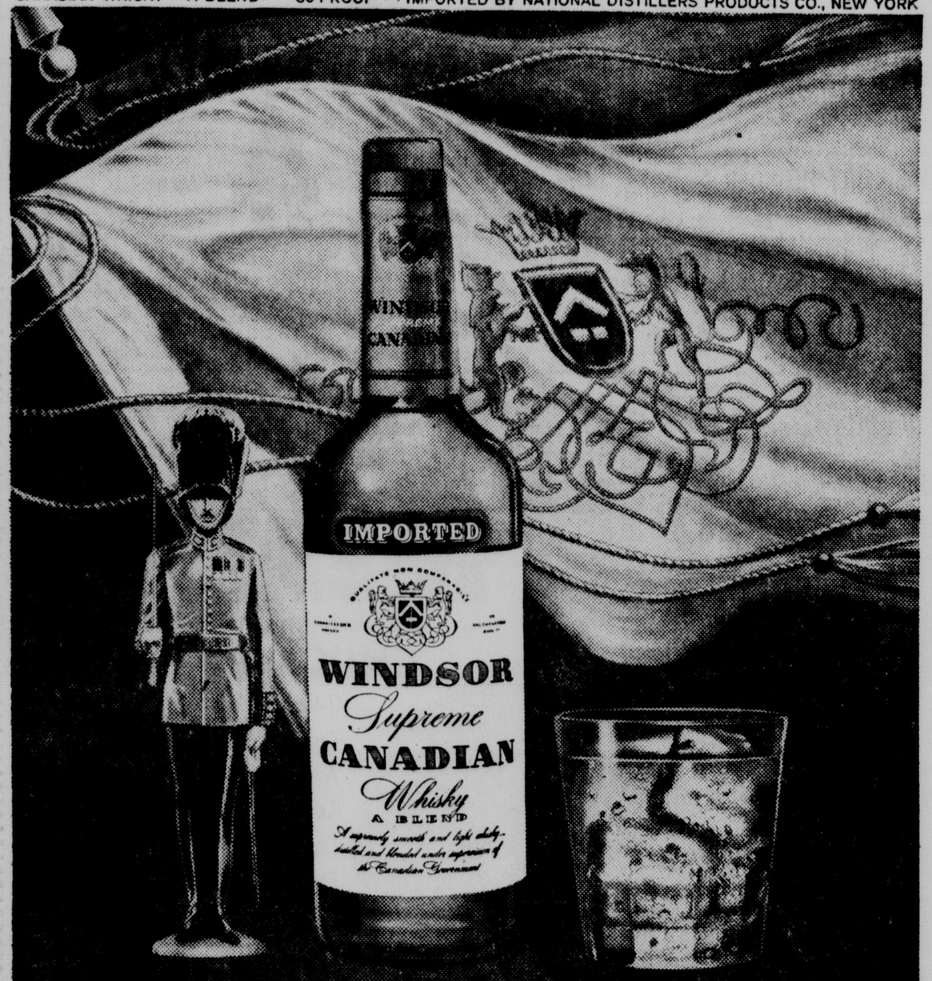
CANADIAN WHISKY — A BLEND • 80 PROOF • IMPORTED BY NATIONAL DISTILLERS PRODUCTS CO., NEW YORK



Elegant tradition:
The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

Tonight serve Windsor Canadian: the remarkable, sippin'-smooth Canadian that's already changing thousands of Americans' ideas on the whisky to serve.

Now compare Windsor! Pour two drinks —highballs or over ice—one with your usual, one with Windsor Canadian. Notice the superior smoothness and the flavor of Windsor.

That's because no other custom-distilled whisky shares these three extraordinary features:

1. Only Windsor Canadian is made from choicest northern prairie grains, bursting with fresh flavor.

2. Only Windsor Canadian is born of icy mountain glacial water drawn pure and clear from underground streams.

3. Only Windsor Canadian is aged in the incredibly dry air of Canada's Rockies. Where, nearly a mile high, it gentles to sippin'-smooth perfection.

Yet it costs no more than leading domestic whiskies, because we import Windsor Canadian, then bottle it here. Thus saving on duties and other charges. Compare the price and the smoothness of Windsor. Once you do, you'll never settle for less or pay more. That's tradition for you!

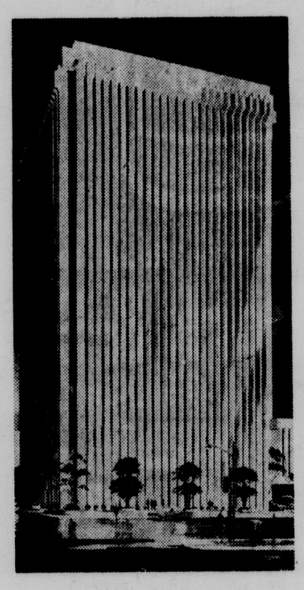
Is there a concrete reason why county welfare employes are forbidden to have coffee breaks at the Lincoln General Hospital cafeteria only a few hundred feet away?
—R. D., Lincoln

ACTON LINE: Only about 600 reasons. About 300 persons are on duty at Lincoln General Hospital during the day. Add to that approximately 150 student nurses on duty, and count on about 150 visitors (that's conservative). All these people use the hospital cafeteria, built and operated for hospital personnel and visitor convenience. The cafeteria was not built for people who have their own coffee bar and snack shop, as do County Welfare employes. Why would you want to cut into your coffe break time walking to the Lincoln General Hospital coffee shop anyway? Eat in your own building. Avoiding crowds is healthy, too.

About a year ago, I read where heated water is used in preference to cool water in preparing ice for The Ice Capades at Pershing Auditorium since hot water freezes faster than cold water. True? —Doubter, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: You have a good memory since the article to which you refer was printed April 2, 1968. The article said: "Due to some strange feat of chemistry, hot water freezes quicker than cold . . ." That is true and not true, depending upon circumstances involved. ACTION LINE's scientific source — the University of Nebraska chemistry department — says to freeze water, the heat energy must be taken away and this is done in two ways — convection and conduction.

Convection is heat energy going into the gases (air) around the heated water (fastest method of freezing); while conduction is the heat energy being absorbed by contact with a cooler substance (cooling pipes). In Pershing Auditorium, both methods are used. Cooling pipes are in the auditorium floor, while air circulates over the heated water to cause natural vaporization. For example: an ice tray of warm water will form ice faster than a tray of cooler water in the freezer because the tray with heated water sinks faster into the frost layer causing faster contact with the cooling aparatus (conduction). However, at zero degrees in the open air on your back porch, a pan of cool water will freeze faster than the pan of warm water since the conduction method is not being used.



Isn't there a city ordinance regulating the height of downtown buildings to twelve floors? So why is the new First National Bank building at 13th and M Sts. allowed to go to twenty floors?
—Mrs. M. D. W., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: There is still an ordinance limiting buildings in certain areas to 150 feet in height. The Lincoln City Council in September, 1968, agreed to amend zoning ordinances to allow 275-foot buildings. The 275-foot limit was recommended to the City Council by the City-County Planning Commission to prevent any buildings higher than the 430-foot State Capitol and to allow the new First National Bank Building to be 230 feet tall. The new height applies to a specially-defined downtown area. Other areas still come under the 150-foot restriction.

What can be done about a family in Huntington Heights allowing a pointer dog to run loose after 5 p.m. and before 8 a.m. The dog has done considerable damage to evergreens. —P.D.Q., Lincoln.

ACTION LINE: Four things can be done to curb the dog situation: (1) Talk to the family involved, asking if they can keep the dog on a leash as required by law; (2) request the Humane Society to look into the situation; (3) file a complaint through the City Attorney's office; (4) bring private civil action on evergreen damage. One of these avenues should lead to neighborhood harmony.

Why did Gov. Norbert Tiemann veto a bill requiring a 30-day suspension of college students convicted of possessing marijuana? Doesn't he know smoking that stuff is bad?
—Student, Lincoln.

ACTION LINE: Gov. Tiemann says he vetoed LB8, passed by the Legislature 34-8, because of the bill's possible unconstitutionality, as well as lack of evidence that college administrators are failing to exercise disciplinary control over students. The Attorney General advised the Legislature before the bill passed that the bill might be unconstitutional.

On the TV program "Laugh In", there is a supposed "dirty ole man" that asks an ugly woman: "Want a wallnetta?" What is a wallnetta? —G.D., Lincoln.

ACTION LINE: "Walnetto" is the brand name of walnut flavored caramel candy. Want a Walnetto?

Our friend's grandchild is allergic to chocolate. We recently read about something called St. John's bread that is a non-allergenic chocolate substitute. Know anything about it? —Mrs. C. A. Blanchard, Lincoln.

ACTION LINE: St. John's bread dates back to Biblical times and is made from the carob bean which comes from a tree akin to a locust tree. Imported, the carob bean substance can be found at the Lincoln Health Food Center, 138 So. 13th St.

Centennial Room At NU To Be Dedicated Friday

University of Nebraska students and faculty will dedicate the new multi-purpose room in the Nebraska Union as the Centennial Room during a luncheon Friday noon.

The event is designed to serve as a re-dedication of the Nebraska Union in connection with completion of a major addition to the facility, according to Bruce Bailey of Omaha, chairman of the Student Centennial Committee and Susan Jenkins of Lincoln, president of the union board of directors.

Guest speaker at the dedication luncheon will be Dr. Robert Manley, professor of history at Hiram Scott College in Scottsbluff. He will discuss "Student Involvement in the University of Nebraska" in historical prospective.

Designation of the multi-purpose room on the second floor of the Nebraska Union as the Centennial Room is a project of the Student Centennial Committee. Student organizations raised $750 to provide funds for a plaque for the room which will include a reproduction of the new University Centennial Medal.

Extra Night Set For 'Music Man'

An extra production of "The Music Man," Meredith Willson's Broadway hit musical, has been scheduled for Monday evening at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Curtain time for the extra show is 8 p.m. in Enid Miller Theatre.

Prof. Henry Blanke said the extra night was added after the original show dates of Feb. 27-28 and March 1-2 were filled by advance reservations.

Proposal To Lower Adult Age To 19 Rejected

By ODELL HANSON
Associated Press Writer

Nebraska's Legislature balked Wednesday at the suggestion youths of 19 should be recognized legally as adults.

Lawmakers rejected by a 33-8 vote a proposal that a pending bill dropping the age of majority from 21 to 20 be subjected to an amendment to make the age 19.

The measure, LB167, rests on select file, second floorstep of three en route to final passage, and currently awaits a possible amendment to make certain that married persons will continue to be regarded as adults for legal purposes, regardless of age.

Could Drink

Reducing the age of majority to 20 or 19 means that these youths no longer would be considered minors. They could enter into legally binding contracts like any other adult, and could, incidentally, purchase and drink intoxicating liquors.

LB167 would not extend voting privileges to youths under 21, however. Another pending bill, LB168, proposes re-submission to voters of a constitutional amendment dropping the voting age from 21 to 20. A similar amendment, dropping the age to 19, was defeated in the November general election.

Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway initiated the proposal Wednesday to drop the age of majority to 19.

"I know a lot of people have disagreements with the young people today — and so do I," said Waldron, at 32, the youngest member of the Unicameral.

Not 100% Perfect

"I know they are not 100% perfect. But if they are not perfect, we have to accept as much blame as anyone . . . they grew up in a society we have created."

Waldron said the approximately 44,000 Nebraskans presently in the 19-and 20-year age group eventually will be the leaders of Nebraska and the world. The Legislature "should try to instill in them a sense of responsibility," he said, and there is no better way to do so "than to treat them as adults."

Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha opposed Waldron's request to return LB167 to general file for the 19-year amendment, saying he thinks 21 should continue to be the minimum age for liquor customers.

Would Not Object

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said he would not object to lowering the age of majority to 19, although he would oppose making it 18. But he said that from sensing "the feeling of this body, 20 is about all you're going to get."

Carpenter said he has the impression Gov. Norbert Tiemann will veto the 20-year age bill on grounds it should be dropped to 18.

Both LB167 and LB168 were introduced by Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine, with Sens. Claire Holmquist of Oakland and Eugene T. Mahoney of Omaha as co-sponsors.

Adamson withdrew Tuesday as sponsor in apparent protest to pressure from the governor's office to drop the age involved in the bills to something under 20. Holmquist followed suit, and Mahoney became the sole sponsor.

Outdoor Recreation Director Quits; Questions Face Hickel

Washington — The director of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation has resigned after an episode with which congressional committees are certain to confront Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel.

Dr. Edward C. Crafts disclosed earlier this month that he had been told he would not be retained by Hickel. Later, the secretary told him he could stay, at least until May 31. Now, in a letter of resignation to Hickel, Crafts has concluded that he does not have the confidence of the new administration.

In the letter he raised questions that the Senate and House Interior Committees will probably also raise with Hickel.

Crafts questioned whether "dismissal at this time might be construed as precedent-setting action that would make a political football of this young conservation agency consisting of dedicated professional career personnel."

Further, he pinpointed a particularly sensitive area in writing that it was "especially important that the $200 million a year grant-in-aid Land and Water Conservation Fund continue to be administered in a non-partisan, nonpolitical pork barrel manner."

The fund was established by Congress with income from fees charged at national parks and other federal outdoor recreation preserves and the federal tax on motor boat fuel. The fund was expected to yield $100 million a year with which to meet demands for acquiring more outdoor play space and to help states plan and develop park programs.

Congress augmented the fund last year by earmarking a portion of revenues from federal leasing of offshore oil lands to make it a $200 million yield for five years.

Since creation of the fund, pressure has built up from some Democrats and Republicans to use the fund as a political patronage grab bag.

The influential chairman of the House Interior Committee, Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo. acknowledged these pressures and asserted that the "heat" still was on for "people to get their hands on it. We're doing our best to keep things clean."

Senators Invited To Eye Proposed Game Unit Site

Members of the Unicameral were invited Wednesday to visit Ord to view a proposed site for relocating the State Game Commission headquarters.

The invitation was made by the Ord Chamber of Commerce and the city's state senator, Rudolf C. Kokes.

Kokes said a definite date for the visit would be set later in the spring "when the weather gets better."

Kokes is sponsor of a bill to relocate the Game Commission's headquarters in his hometown.

Real Estate Bill Survives Attack

By Associated Press

Sen. Herbert Duis of Gothenburg, who is in the real estate business, attempted unsuccessfully in the Legislature Wednesday to kill a bill strengthening the inspection and intervention powers of the Nebraska Real Estate Commission with respect to trust accounts.

The motion to kill LB268 on general file was voted down 22-9, and the measure then advanced on a 28-4 vote.

Sponsored by Sen. William F. Swanson, a former executive secretary of the Real Estate Commission, LB268 would augment the power of commission representatives to inspect records and freeze accounts when there is reason to believe there might be shortages in the accounts of money held by licensed real estate men but belonging to customers.

'Enough Powers'

Sen. Duis contended the commission already has all the powers necessary to inspect accounts and control licensees. He said LB268 permits a commission inspector to adopt a "Gestapo" role "even if he only thinks something is wrong." The commission already has "gotten out of hand," he said.

Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice, a lawyer and chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said inspection of trust accounts is "not an invasion of privacy," and no point is served by sending around inspectors who have the approximate authority of "a toothless rabbit."

In other action, the Legislature gave 34-0 first round approval to a bill making parents liable for the injuries wilfully inflicted by their children.

Under the amended version of Sen. Henry F. Pedersen's LB49, the maximum amount in hospital expenses a parent must pay for each injury is $1,000.

Workmen's Compensation

The lawmakers also gave first round approval to three bills altering Workmen's Compensation laws. The trio of measures was proposed by the legislative Labor Committee and endorsed by both labor and industry.

LB457 would increase the maximum weekly compensation from $44 to $48. LB456 would reduce the time an unemployed person must wait for benefits from three to two weeks. And LB455 would give liens for delinquent employer contributions to the unemployment compensation fund a priority over tax liens.

LB456 and LB457 each received five disapproving votes.

Other bills receiving first round approval with vote:

LB242, permitting the Nebraska School for the Visually Handicapped to contract for educational services. 39-0.

LB74, providing grounds for attachment of Nebraska residents' property and bonding deadlines. 32-0.

LB237, deleting the requirement that a county attorney must represent a hospital district in his county. 33-0.

LB249, making it unlawful to remove the metal markers from graves of veterans. 33-0.

Bill With New Intent And Sponsor Passed

A bill which lost both its sponsor and its intent between introduction and adoption in Nebraska's Legislature was one of three passed on final reading Wednesday.

As introduced by Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway, LB236 proposed to remove from law the requirement that only persons who own property may vote in school district meetings or elections.

By the time McCook Sen. Lester Harsh's Education Committee and the Legislature as a whole had finished amending the bill, it simply deleted from old law a provision that the school district voter needed to be 21 years old, and substituted for it a requirement that the participant be a registered voter.

Waldron withdrew as sponsor and Harsh became the new sponsor.

The amended bill won 45-2 final approval Wednesday with Waldron and Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha casting the opposition votes.

Another bill passed Wednesday, LB192, authorizes building and loan associations to require a borrower to pay a penalty not to exceed one per cent of the unpaid balance for premature payment of a loan. LB192 carries the emergency clause which makes it effective the moment it is signed by Gov. Norbert Tiemann.

Bills passed Wednesday, with votes (E-emergency clause):

LB192 (Carpenter, Skarda) — Authorizing building and loan associations to assess penalty for premature payment of real estate loans. (E) 44-0.

LB236 (Harsh) — Providing that only registered voters may ballot in school district elections or meetings. 45-2.

LB263 (Mahoney) — Revising insurance law with respect to health or accident coverage of children in college, and allowing 10-day period during which purchaser may decide to reject a policy. 49-0.

Changes Proposed In Election Laws

By Associated Press

A registered voter who neglects to vote in two successive general elections would find his registration cancelled under a bill introduced in the Legislature Wednesday. Re-registration then would be required.

The provision is contained in a voluminous LB1294, an omnibus bill rewriting election laws generally. Sens Loran Schmit of David City, Roland A. Luedtke of Lincoln and Don Elrod ot Grand Island sponsored the bill.

One effect of LB1294 would be to permit certain election results to be made known and publicized in eastern Nebraska before the polls have closed in western Nebraska.

Present law forces withholding of all election results until polls have closed throughout Nebraska. The eastern two-thirds of the state are in the central time zone, and the remainder in the mountain zone. Thus eastern Nebraska results can not now be released until 9 p.m. central time, although polls close at 8 p.m.

LB1294 would permit election results to be released in the central zone immediately in the poll closing, if the office at stake is one whose territory does not extend into mountain time zone.

Thus Omaha precincts could make known at 8 p.m. voting results involving Second District Congress as an example, but would need to wait to 9 p.m. to make known gubernatorial election results.

Another bill introduced Wednesday would establish municipal courts in all Nebraska cities with a population of 5,000 or more.

At present, only Omaha and Lincoln are required to have municipal courts.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff sponsored the bill, LB1293, providing for single-judge municipal courts in all first class cities.

Lawmakers Watch Cars Go Through Inspection

The Legislature's Public Works Committee Wednesday took a first-hand look at what actually goes into a motor vehicle safety inspection before deciding if any changes are preferred in the rejected regulations.

Meeting in a group at the University of Nebraska motor pool's garage, committee member watched mechanics go through the inspection procedure on cars oned by Sens. Elmer Wallwey of Emerson and Irving Wiltse of Falls City.

The next step will be a Friday meeting with the Motor Vehicles Department to determine if alterations can be made to make the requirements for inspection passage less rigid, Chairman Rick Budd of Nebraska City said.

"Being there and having the members (of the committee) get acquainted with the actual testing procedure was a lot better than sitting in a room and discussing it," Budd said.

The Legislature instructed the committee to review the regulations after rejecting the standards established by the Motor Vehicles Department and a special advisory committee.

Wallwey's 1966 Ford Galaxie and Wiltse's 1967 Lincoln Continental both passed the inspection.

The test-by-test procedure was explained in detail by Motor Vehicle Inspection Division Chief Ray Johnson while university mechanics did the work.

The most frequent vehicle shortcoming in voluntary inspections was lights, particularly headlight alignment, Johnson reported.

Of 1,151 cars tested by 100 inspection stations sampled, 639 or 55% required light replacements or adjustments; 187 or 16.2% needed wheel alignment; and 122 or 10.6% needed brake work.

Other categories which failed, with percentage of the 1,151, were: tires, 2.7; horn 2.3; wipers, 7.9; glass, 2.2; exhaust system, 6.6; mirrors, .9, and body, .8.

The average age of the vehicles was four years and the average cost of fixing the vehicles was $9.73, excluding the $2 inspection fee.

Proposal To Cut Firemen's Hours Still Stalled In Committee

A controversial bill to reduce the maximum work week for paid firemen from 60 to 56 hours remained stalled in the Legislature's Labor Committee Wednesday when a motion to kill brought a 3-3 tie vote.

The measure, LB818 was supported by firemen but opposed by Omaha and Lincoln city administrations at its public hearing last week.

The executive session deadlock vote followed a public hearing on three new bills, including one to increase workmen's compensation benefits.

Sent to the floor on a 7-0 vote was Beatrice Sen. Fred Carstens' LB422, raising from $45 to $55 per week the maximum workmen's compensation, and boosting from $40 to $35 per week the minimum, while increasing burial benefits from $750 to $1,000.

Labor and management joined in support of the bill

State AFL-CIO Chairman Richard Nisley said that even with the increase, 27 states will have more generous benefits. George Mechling of Lincoln, representing the Nebraska Association of Commerce and Industry, estimated the bill will increase workmen's compensation insurance premiums by 5.7%, but said "increased living costs must be recognized."

Sent to the floor on a 5-1 vote after being sharply amended was Callaway Sen. J. James Waldron's LB587, increasing the State Labor Department's authority to require railroads to make certain provisions for their employes.

Representatives of unionized railroad maintenance of way employes supported the bill, but railroad management opposed it.

In original form, the bill extended to all railroad employes certain drinking water requirements applying presently to maintenance of way employes. The bill also authorized the Labor Department to promulgate rules and regulations with respect to shelter for railroad employes, and added to the wording of present law specific authority to enforce such regulations.

E. R. Miller, speaking for all railroads termed it an "enormously broad bill" which "goes far beyond anything we are prepared to understand or try to live with." And Atty. George Holdrege of the Union Pacific said the bill as written "absolutely turns over the entire operation of the railroad to the department of labor."

The bill survived a kill motion 3-4, and went to the floor after being amended to limit its application largely to shelter for maintenance of way employes

Another bill given hearing was Grand Island Sen. Donald Elrod's LB754, requiring safety precautions when work is performed near high voltage lines. Power interests concurred in the bill's intent but suggested corrective changes, and the bill was held for later amendment and disposition.

Acting on several bills previously heard, the committee sent to the floor on a 4-3 vote Sen. Terry Carpenter's controversial LB539, limiting a private employment agency's fee to one-half of the first month's salary of the placed employe.

Also advanced to the floor:

—LB274, authorizing an employe to select his own physician or surgeon for services paid by the employer.

—LB487, authorizing workmen's compensation medical examinations by non-Nebraskans.

—LB373, exempting toy boilers from boiler inspection laws.

Bond Issue Ceiling Change Moves

The Legislature's Urban Affairs Committee Wednesday sent to the floor a bill which would remove a present $500,000 ceiling on bond issues for municipal buildings in first class cities.

Sponsorbd by North Platte Sen. Ellen E. Craft, LB291 would also change from three-fifths to a simple majority the electoral support needed to approve such issues.

The committee rejected an amendment proposed by Grand Island City Manager John Carpenter which would have removed the election requirement entirely if the building were to be leased by the state.

"What are you trying to do? Kill the bill?" Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, a committee member, asked.

The Grand Island representative said that the city was thinking in terms of a proposal which would allow the State Game Commission to relocate there in a complex constructed by the city and leased by the state.

North Platte city officials said that the measure would allow that city to proceed with a proposed city auditorium-civic center. They noted that, as proposed now, the building's cost would far exceed the $500,000 ceiling.

Representatives of Kearney and Scottsbluff also indicated support of the bill. There was no opposition.

The committee advanced Lincoln Sen. Roland Luedtke's LB310, a bill expanding to all cities and villages the authority to abate nuisances. Lincoln City Attorney Ralph Nelson said that the authority has previously only been vested in primary and first class cities.

Another Luedtke bill, LB311, was held at his request. Four noncontroversial bills were heard without opposition and advanced, including:

—LB264 and LB265, companion bills introduced by Sen. Florence Reynolds of Omaha, allowing the creation of combined sidewalk and street improvement districts and for the creation of mall improvement districts in metropolitan class cities.

—LB871, introduced by Sen. George Syas, to repeal conflicting sections of law dealing with eminent domain procedures in metropolitan cities.

—LB435, introduced by Carpenter, to allow for the creation of parking improvement districts.

Committee Holds Bill Forcing Annual Assessment Review

Legislation which would force the State Board of Equalization and Assessment to annually review and equalize property tax assessments among counties was heard without opposition Wednesday and held for later action.

Spokesmen for the Nebraska Association of County Officials and the Nebraska Tax Research Council did, however, object to a provision of LB406 which would empower the board to equalize within counties.

"That should be a local responsibility," Forrest Johnson of the Tax Research Council told the Legislature's Revenue Committee.

The board is presently empowered to equalize among counties, but there is no statutory mandate that it must do so every year.

"We should make it mandatory," Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell, chief sponsor of LB406, insisted.

The board, he said, has failed to equalize among counties for the past two years.

Whitney said he also supports equalization authority within counties so the state board can correct inequities among various classes of property within counties.

Arnold Ruhnke, speaking for the county officials, said there is apprehension about the provision which would give the state board authority to change values within a county, but counties generally support a mandatory annual equalization among counties themselves.

Also heard and held for later consideration was LB420, which would adopt a real estate appraisers regulatory act.

Everroad Says He'd Have Signed Marijuana Bill

Lt. Gov. John E. Everroad said Wednesday he would have signed a controversial marijuana bill which Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann vetoed earlier in the week.

The Legislature will vote Thursday morning on an attempt to pass Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB8 over the governor's veto. The bill provides an automatic 30-day suspension of any public or private college student convicted of possessing marijuana.

Tiemann cited Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer's claim that the bill was unconstitutional when he announced his veto Monday afternoon. Everroad said he thought the bill was still "worth a try," despite promised court challenges.

Thirty votes are required to pass a bill into law over a governor's veto. The bill passed last week on a 34-8 roll call vote.

Hubert Advises Nixon Abandon Missile Plan

Minneapolis (UPI) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey urged the Nixon administration Wednesday night to abandon plans to deploy the Sentinel antiballistic missile around the nation. That, he said, would "lead us back to the darkest days of the cold war."

He argued that deployment of the multi-billion-dollar missile system would scare off Russia from entering into an agreement to stop the arms race. Moreover, he said, it would be futile — the missiles would be out of date by the time they were installed.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has ordered a halt in construction on sites for the ABM while the matter is studied. But he has expressed an expectation that work will be resumed when the study is completed.

In a speech prepared for delivery as part of the University of Minnesota's International Week Program, Humphrey contended:

"If we begin to deploy this system, we will inevitably raise doubts in the minds of the Russians about our intentions. We will force them to improve their own offensive missile forces, thereby postponing further a freeze in the arms race."

Deployment of the Sentinel would only spur Russia to develop more sophisticated offensive weapons as a counterbalance, Humphrey argued.

"The offense can always be a step ahead of the defense — our generals and scientists agree on this," he said.

He predicted that, with Sentinel deployment stopped, talks on controlling arms with the Soviets would be "productive."

Doctor Blames Advertising For Use Of Dangerous Drug

Washington (UPI) — A doctor Wednesday blamed aggressive drug company advertising and promotion for spurring what he said was continued widespread use of a powerful antibiotic that can cause a fatal blood disease.

Dr. Paul F. Wehrle, head of pediatrics at the Los Angeles County-University of Southern California Medical Center, said promotion for the drug still suggests its trustworthiness despite studies showing it kills one out of every 20,000 who take it.

"The continued widespread use of chloramphenicol, often for what are apparently minor illnesses or illnesses for which another drug is of at least equal or greater effectiveness, is difficult to understand in view of the mounting evidence of serious toxicity," Wehrle said.

He said its continued indiscriminate use partially was being perpetuated by "a continuing aggressive advertising and detailing (sales promotion) program, suggesting that physicians can 'trust' this drug."

Official Says REA Is Unable To Meet Requests For Loans

A Western Area REA director re-emphasized his organization's plight in being unable to meet increasing loan requests of rural electric associations at a Wednesday meeting of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association (NREA) convention.

Gerald Diddle of Washington, D.C., whose talk followed up earlier NREA consideration of establishing supplemental loans through private capital, told the delegates that at the end of the fiscal year, REA would have only $82 million available to handle a projected $386 million in unmet loan requests.

Diddle said REA loans were granted on a quarterly basis during the year and that $345 million was the loan total for a year.

In an emergency situation, however, he said, advance funds could be provided if the need was critical.

Diddle said the problems facing rural electric associations could be solved through a "new brand of cooperation" by the 100,000 rural families served by rural electric associations.

"The answer to most urban problems lies in the development of rural America," he said.

Al Augustyn of the Loup Valley rural power district was named to fill a vacancy as treasurer of the NREA. All other officers of the NREA were re-elected.

McCook Junior College Expansion Vote Slated

. . . $300,000 Bond Issue On April 1 Ballot

McCook (AP) — The McCook Board of Education has approved preliminary plans for a construction project that would allow McCook Junior College to double its present enrollment.

Two new structures would be built at the campus at a cost of some $560,000. An additional $65,000 would be allotted for furniture and equipment and $40,000 for archtects' fees.

Plans call for construction of a two-level library building and a two-level science building. A $300,000 bond issue will be necessary to finance the construction.

$200,000 Library

The library, estimated to cost $200,000, will have room for more than 38,000 volumes. The college currently has 9,000 volumes in a makeshift library.

The science building, with a projected cost of $360,000, will contain two classrooms, a 250-capacity lecture hall, a 100-seat lecture hall, laboratories and offices for teachers.

President A. W. Kuper says more efficient use of teachers will probably allow the same number of instructors to handle a larger number of students, making a staff expansion unnecessary.

Architectural representative Lloyd Benjamin has told the board he believes that the price estimates are high and that total costs could well be less when the bids are opened.

The bond election to finance the construction is slated for April 1. The $300,000 provided through the bond issue would be coupled with $115,000 raised locally and 40 per cent federal matching funds.

Mundt Bill Would Honor Pick, Sloan

Washington (AP) — The Missouri River basin development program would be renamed for two of its original planners, under a bill introduced by Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D.

Mundt was joined by 12 cosponsors from 10 basin states in proposing the project be named for Col. Lewis A. Pick, former division engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers, and W. Glen Sloan, former assistant regional director of the Bureau of Reclamation. Pick later was named chief of the Army Engineers.

Planners Urge Council To Deny Zoning Request

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday unanimously recommended that the City Council deny a change of zone application which would permit development of hospital-related businesses on land adjacent to the new St. Elizabeth Hospital on 70th St. near O St.

C. Bernard Hilgert, president of Gateway Medical Village Inc., requested G Local Business zoning on the A-1 Residential land.

The zoning application is expected to be considered by the City Council at its March 24 meeting.

Would Open Door

Commissioners indicated that approving the request would open the door to future commercial development in the area.

The applicant indicated at a public hearing last week that a motel, drugstore, doctors' offices and other medical facilities would be built on the land if the zoning is approved.

Atty. Robert Weigel, representing the applicant, argued last week that the proposed development would be the best possible use for the land near St. Elizabeth and Veteran's Hospitals.

Weigel said the commercial development would benefit the two hospitals and their patients by providing supporting services.

Denial Urged

Planning Director Douglas Brogden had recommended to the commission that the application be denied.

Brogden reported that granting the change of zone would make it difficult to refuse similar requests on the property bounded by 66th and 70th and from the St. Elizabeth Hospital to O St.

A. C. Breckenridge, a planning commissioner, said he voted for denial because it would completely change the idea of A-1 residential zoning.

"We are not approving an artist's concept but a change of zone," Breckenridge said.

Chairman Ed Perry said he voted for denial because such a zone change might open "Pandora's box" by permitting additional commercial development in the area.

The planning commission also made the following recommendations:

—Denial of change of zone from A-2 Single Family to D Multiple on northwest corner of 48th and M Sts., requested by Art Johnson Realty.

—Approval of change of zone from F Restricted Commercial to J Business on the northwest and southwest corners of 15th and L Sts., requested by planning director so that the new state office building can be constructed.

—Approval of change of zone from H-2 Highway Commercial to A-2 Single Family on property west of Milton at Fairfield St., requested by planning director.

—Denial of change of zone from A-2 Single Family to F Restricted Commercial on the northeast corner of 60th and Cotner requested by Kenneth Bothwell.

—Deferral of change of zone from F Restricted Commercial to H Commercial on southwest corner of 13th and G Sts.

—Approval of amendment to permit car washes in G and G-1 Businesses, requested by Dan Hergert Jr.

—Approval of amendment excluding from F District certain uses that are permitted in E District.

—Deferred action on preliminary plat for Cornhusker Industrial Addition at 29th and Cornhusker.

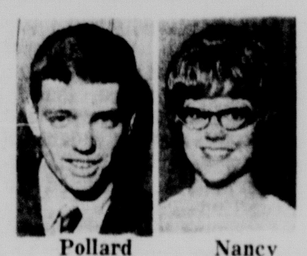
—Approval of Chez Ami Knolls third addition replat, preliminary and final.

—Approval of special permit for Southeast Branch YMCA to construct a building on north side of South St. near 61st St.

—Approval of special permit for Mrs. Larry Eads and Mrs. Richard Manner to operate a day nursery at 2929 J St.

Holstein Association Honors Two 4-Hers

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor



Pollard Nancy

The annual State Holstein Association meeting was held here Wednesday with two Nebraska 4-H members receiving special recognition for their dairy activities.

Nancy Ossenkop of Rt. 2, Lincoln, and Lyle Pollard of Nehawka were named outstanding 4-H Holstein girl and boy. They will represent Nebraska in the National Holstein Youth contest.

Miss Ossenkop, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ossenkop. She has been active in dairy 4-H activities for eight years.

She was named 1968 District Dairy Queen and was recognized with the outstanding service award as a 4-H member from Lancaster County.

Pollard, 18, is the son of Mr and Mrs. Malcolm Pollard and has spent 10 years in 4-H and FFA activities. He has shown many state fair and Ak-Sar-Ben winners and has won showmanship and judging honors.

The award for owning the highest producing registered Holstein cow in 1968 went to Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Partridge of Stanton.

Progressive breeder awards went to two Nebraska herds owned by the Beatrice State Home and R. P. Flynn & Sons of Blair.

Leness Hall of Carnation Farms at Carnation, Washington, was the featured speaker.

Hall said he believed there is "a great future for the dairyman and the purebred breeder."

He said the three main requirements for the cow of the future will be an animal that is a high producer, has a long producing life span and bears a calf annually.

"I believe that before too many years you will see many dairy herds where the average milk production is at least 20,000 pounds a cow and herds where you will find one man milking 100 to 200 cows," said Hall.

8-State Snow Removal Plan Is Suggested

Washington (AP) — Rep. Robert V. Denney, R-Neb., recommends that the federal government help eight midwestern and western states establish a regional snow-removal compact.

The states would include Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Colorado, Montana and Wyoming.

He said Wednesday he has suggested the federal government help coordinate plans for a compact to pool snow-removal facilities from one state to another.

A state lending equipment and manpower could charge the state that did the borrowing, according to the proposal.

2 Experts Recommend Center For Alcoholics

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Two Iowa experts on the treatment of alcoholism said in Lincoln Wednesday that they would recommend establishing a community detoxification and rehabilitation center at the Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center here.

The agency is already operating a rehabilitation center, has space for a detoxification center and "has people who want to use it," declared Dr. R. Keith Simpson, medical director of the Harrison Treatment and Rehabilitation Center in Des Moines.

"Lincoln would be missing a golden opportunity not to take the Salvation Army's offer," Simpson said.

The Salvation Army advisory board has decided to spearhead efforts to establish an alcoholic detoxification and rehabilitation center for the community, according to Major C. V. Jewett, manager.

Met Officials

Simpson and Gene Messenger, directors of the Harrison community rehabilitation program, were in Lincoln to meet with city and county officials, representatives of numerous social agencies and civic organizations and other interested persons.

They described the formation and operation of the Des Moines "community-financed, community-sponsored" program.

The Des Moines center is funded by nine cities, two counties, private donations and the College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery.

The major hurdle for the Salvation Army, as it was for the Harrison Center will be to "destigmatize the treatment of alcoholism in the community," Simpson pointed out.

However, he predicted that even though the Army is generally associated with "skid row," a center that receives cooperation from the community eventually will be attracting patients from all segments of the city.

'Skid Row'

Simpson noted that the Harrison center started out primarily treating "skid row" patients at first. During the first three months of operation the average patient age was 65 and the average annual income was $320.

After a year of operation, the average age of patients was 36 and the average annual income was $6,000, he reported. 1,162 of the center's 1,934 admissions have been employed persons.

Simpson said that the Salvation Army, experienced in working with homeless men, has a good attitude for dealing with people suffering from alcoholism" that does not exist in a hospital or with the average physician."

Police departments have had to serve as detoxification Simpson emphasized.

Two Turned Away

Jewett noted that the Men's Social Service Center currently does not have facilities to deal with drunk persons. Almost two are turned away because they are "drunk at the door" for every person that is taken into the rehabilitation program, he said.

Some remodeling would be required by the Salvation Army for a detoxification center as well as the addition of professional persons to staff such a center, according to Jewett. Lack of funds have kept the Army from moving into such a program on its own.

Simpson, Messenger and Jewett met with city and county officials following the general presentation to discuss financing.

Jewett noted that the Salvation Army has contracts with several cities to operate Alcoholic treatment programs.

The Des Moines program offers a 10-day treatment, Simpson reported. A random check showed that 50-65% of the former patients are now employed in stable jobs. The number of chronic alcoholics has "dropped way off" in Des Moines, he added.

County-City Building Cost $5.4 Million

Construction costs of the new County-City Building will probably reach $5.4 million, according to a progress report of the architects presented to Lancaster County Commissioners.

The report, prepared by architects Hemphill, Vierk and Dawson, lists existing contracts, estimated cost of additions and estimated architect fees totaling $5,421,956.

This is slightly more than the $5 million bond issue approved by voters, but to date the city and county have realized $558,458 in interest by investing the bond issue money, which more than covers the additional amount.

Already moved into the new building are the district courts and the clerk of the district court office, the offices of Veterans Service and county superintendent of schools, with the adult probation office scheduled to move Thursday.

According to County Board Chairman Kenneth Bourne, the juvenile court and probation office will move next Monday and Tuesday, followed by the county court March 5, 6 and 7, and the county attorney's office March 13 and 14.

Armed Robbers Seize Mail Bags

Montreal (AP) — Six armed masked men stole mail that could be valued at up to $500,000, in a lunch-hour holdup Wednesday in the Canadian National Railroad's downtown Central Station.

Police said the men got away with 12 mail bags, including one crammed with registered mail that could amount to "between $50,000 and $500,000."

Prosecution Of Sirhan Ends Case

Los Angeles (AP) —The prosecution presented its 56th and final witness against Sirhan Bishara Sirhan and "for all practical purposes" rested its case Wednesday.

The seven-week-old trial of the Jordanian charged with assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was recessed until Friday.

Lynn D. Compton, chief deputy district attorney, said the state had only a few matters involving exhibits to sort out before formally closing its first-degree murder case. The presentation of witnesses took nine days of testimony.

The defense asked for a recess until Monday.

Doctor Testifies

One of the last prosecution witnesses, Dr. Faustin Bazilauskas, a physician, told of ministering to Kennedy after the shooting. He said he was prepared to inject adrenaline into the dying senator's heart but changed his mind.

"Mrs. Kennedy's eyes were just two feet away," he said, "and I didn't think she could take it."

Earlier, a veteran police officer, Lt. William Jordan, testified that, in the hours immediately following Kennedy's death, Sirhan was "one of the most alert and intelligent people I've ever interrogated."

Trance Claimed

The defense claims Sirhan, 24, was in a trance when he shot Kennedy on June 5, 1968, moments after the senator proclaimed his victory in California's Democratic presidential primary.

An official transcript which became available during the day revealed that Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker and defense lawyers talked Sirhan out of entering a guilty plea during a conference in chambers Tuesday.

Sirhan was upset because Walker ruled parts of Sirhan's notebooks were admissible as evidence.

2 Colleges Shut Down

By The Associated Press

Two Negro colleges — Wiley College in Marshall, Tex., and Stillman College in Tuscaloosa, Ala. — were shut down Wednesday in the wake of student demonstrations.

At Wiley, a 750-student Methodist institution, Dr. T. Winston Cole, president of the school, had ordered all students off the grounds by noon. His order came after students failed to remove barricades at administration and classroom buildings.

Demonstrators have demanded Cole's resignation. Cole said a meeting of trustees was being set up to discuss plans for reopening "with the hope that those of you who are interested might complete the current semester."

Stillman remained closed with fewer than 25 dissenting students inside the student union building, which they locked from the inside. The students were protesting cafeteria service, alleged discourteous treatment by some faculty members and other matters at the 800-student school.

At the University of California, a fire bomb was thrown into Haviland Hall on the Berkeley campus early Wednesday, causing minor damage. Three small fires broke out outside athletic department offices late Tuesday night.

Byrd Pushes Bill

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. has introduced a bill to make it a federal crime for used car sellers to tamper with mileage reading on the speedometer.

Charter Amendment To Be Proposed Calling For City Hospital Department

Lincoln General Hospital board members Wednesday voted to propose a charter amendment recognizing the board as the hospital's governing body with its duties and responsibilities set by City Council ordinance.

The proposal to amend the charter section concerning the composition of the executive branch will be presented to the charter revision committee, mayor and City Council.

The amendment, prepared by Assistant City Atty. Carl Kopines, would say that the executive branch of city government includes a "department for the operation and management of a city hospital."

Governing Board

The city hospital department "shall be under the direction of a governing board with such duties and responsibilities to be established by ordinance," according to the amendment proposal.

The action would essentially permit the hospital to have personnel and purchasing divisions "on a deputy basis," eliminating duplication by other city departments, it was explained.

Hospital board member and Councilman John Comstock noted that the amendment would serve as "enabling legislation so that operational details are not included in the city charter."

The hospital board is seeking a vote on the amendment in the May election.

Nursing Program

In other business, hospital administrator Robert Brungard announced that the school of nursing program has been reduced from 36 to 33 months.

Curriculum revisions put more emphasis on clinical experiences for the student nurses, he said.

Brungard said that the Lincoln General nursing school is being improved and expanded because "we feel that the hospital school of nursing will be the prime source of our nursing supply for many years to come."

Renewed Interest

Board President Herb Hopkins reported that county officials had expressed renewed interest in using the old hospital building. However, no proposals have been made.

An appraisal of the building and ground will be completed by next month, he said.

It was reported that Tabitha Home had authorized its director, Harold Norby, to research the possibility of using the old building for senior citizens housing. Norby, contacted later, said he had not studied the building yet, but he said he "suspects there is not potential for us."

Lutheran School Closed By Illness

Hastings (UPI) — A respiratory ailment which caused 36% absenteeism prompted the closing Wednesday of the Zion Lutheran School here.

School officials planned to resume classes Friday.

KENNETH WITT

Witt To Head United Fund Drive

Lincoln Community Chest board members Wednesday named Kenneth G. Witt chairman of the 1970 United Fund campaign.

Witt, a special agent for Prudential Insurance Co. of America, was appointed to the Chest executive committee as an ex-officio member. He served as the assistant campaign chairman last year.

Loren Belker was chosen chairman of the Chest budget committee. He reported that David Patrick, Robert Hinrichs and Mrs. Fred Stiner would serve as subcommittee chairmen during budget hearings.

Others named to the executive committee were Chest President John E. Olsson, Vice Presidents Laurence A. Connealy and Mrs. Keith Andresen, Secretary Gene Tallman, Treasurer James Nissen and Julian Hopkins, Howard Chapin, John L. Alden, Charles J. Burmeister, Warren Jennings, Dr. James Lake and E. Ross Martin.

Harry Seward and Robert Barlow, representing the Lincoln Community Council, were named ex-officio members.

Board members voted to be "more aggressive" in getting other agencies which conduct fund drives to join the Lincoln-Lancaster United Appeal.

It was agreed that the Community Chest should extend an invitation to other groups, including health agencies such as the Heart Fund, to "investigate the possibilities" for joining the United Fund.

One of the concepts of United Fund is to "eliminate so many different fund drives. If we can further that concept, we should try," declared Olsson.

Joyce, Hergert Planning To Seek Lincoln Airport Authority Posts

Petitions are being circulated by two men for the two positions on the Airport Authority that will be filled during the spring election.

Richard Joyce of 1620 Skyline Drive announced Wednesday that he will seek re-election to the four-year term.

The terms of Joyce and Jack Pace expire this year. Pace said he has not decided yet whether he will seek re-election.

Petitions have also been taken out for Dan Hergert Jr. of 2725 Kucera Drive, owner of Hergert Oil Co.

Hergert said he is seeking the position because of an interest in aviation.

Joyce is seeking his second term. He was appointed by former Mayor Dean Petersen to fill a vacancy and was elected for the first time in 1965.

He was chairman of the Airport Authority during 1968.

Lincolnite To India

Phil Borchers, a Northeast High School graduate and son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Borchers of 6200 Walker Ave., has been chosen as one of seven students from Carleton College in Northfield, Minn., to attend a six-month seminar in India. Borchers is a sophomore at the college.

Pamper The Tired Executive

When there's been another world crisis, or an intramural office crisis; when the market's been bearish, or the boss has been an ogre — there's nothing like a little mealtime T.L.C. to raise the spirits of the man of your family. With a very small investment of time, your stock with your own special executive will go up, Up, UP, when you serve him such a satisfying dish as Salmon Steak with Confetti Sauce.

Firm, pink, rich-flavored salmon is often thought of as a great delicacy, yet there is nothing really more suitable for the family table. Salmon steaks, for instance, lend themselves to many heartier ways of serving that men, in particular, enjoy.

The salmon of this recipe is very simply prepared; it's brushed with butter and broiled. Instead of just a squeeze of lemon juice for serving, however, some freshly squeezed juice is combined with sliced stuffed olives and green onions, and capers, plus apple jelly no less to make an exciting new sauce that heightens the special salmon flavor.

You might serve the confetti-sauced salmon with a spinach souffle and an orange-and-banana salad. Warm, crusty bread would be good with it, too. No matter what the accompaniments, however, this is an entree that will brighten any table any time, though it was especially created for the Lenten season.

Still another way to cater to the executive appetite come 6:00 p.m. is to serve the hearty seafood stews or chowders that seem so right for this time of year. An oyster stew is something that can really hit the spot on a blustery February or March evening, as everybody knows. But have you ever thought of serving fried oysters with scrambled eggs as a morning sendoff to Ticker Tape Land for the executive in your life?

This can be something very special if you first quickly roll the oysters in flour, then dip them in beaten egg and milk, reserved from your mixture for scrambling, roll them in cracker crumbs and fry them quickly in hot butter or margarine until they turn golden brown. Another variation — fold the just-fried oysters into a breakfast omelet. After the first-time surprise this fine breakfast treat is something you'll be asked to repeat often.

SALMON STEAK WITH CONFETTI SAUCE

- 2 pounds salmon steaks, fresh or frozen, 1 inch thick
- Melted butter
- Salt and pepper

CONFETTI SAUCE:

- ⅔ cup sliced stuffed olives
- 2 tablespoons sliced green onions
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon capers or chopped sweet pickles
- 1 tablespoon apple jelly
- 2 tablespoons water

Thaw frozen fish. Cut fish into 6 portions. Brush top side generously with butter; place fish, buttered side down, on broiler pan. Brush top side with butter; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Broil about 3 to 4 inches from source of heat for 10 to 15 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Baste once during broiling with butter. Remove to heated platter. Combine remaining ingredients and heat. To serve, spoon warm Confetti Sauce over salmon. Makes 6 servings.

A Different Dip

AVOCADO DIP

- 3 avocados*
- 6 tablespoons lemon or lime juice, freshly squeezed
- ½ package (1¼ ounces) taco seasoning mix
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- Frozen French fries, prepared as directed on package
- Shrimp, cooked, peeled and deveined, fresh or frozen

Cut avocados in half lengthwise, remove seeds and skin. Mash avocados; blend in lemon or lime juice, taco seasoning mix and salt. Refrigerate, covered, for 4 hours. Serve with hot frozen French fries and chilled shrimp. Makes 2¼ cups.

*Avocados should be soft to be most flavorful.

Try A Little Mealtime Magic And Serve Soup With Glamour

Mealtime magic can mean only one thing this cold winter season — nutritious main dishes. What better way to satisfy mounting appetites!

CORN CHOWDER

- ¼ cup butter
- ¾ cup finely chopped onion
- 1½ cups finely diced potato
- 1 cup water
- 6 salted crackers, crumbled
- 4 cups milk
- 1 can (1 lb.) cream-style corn
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Finely crumbled bacon, minced parsley or popcorn

Melt butter in a saucepan, add onion and cook and stir until transparent, but not brown. Add potato and water, bring to a boil, cover and simmer gently until potato cubes are very tender. Add crackers, milk, corn and salt and pepper, to taste. Heat only to serving temperature. Serve in warm soup bowls with a garnish of crumbled bacon, minced parsley or popcorn. Makes 6 generous servings.

CREAM OF PEA SOUP

- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen peas
- ½ cup boiling water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup (½ stick) butter
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 quart milk
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Cook peas in boiling, salted water until tender; retain liquid. Sieve peas with liquid. Melt butter in saucepan. Stir in flour. Add milk, stirring constantly. Cook and stir until sauce is smooth and thickened. Stir in sieved peas and pepper. Add additional salt to taste (½ to 1 teaspoon). Serve in warm bowls. Makes 4 servings.

FISH AN CORN CHOWDER

- ⅓ cup butter
- 2 large onions, thinly sliced
- 5 medium potatoes, peeled and diced
- 3 teaspoons salt
- 2½ cups boiling water
- 1 can (1 lb.) whole kernel corn
- Dash hot pepper sauce
- 1½ pounds fresh or frozen fish fillets, thawed
- 5 cups milk

Melt butter in deep kettle. Add onion; cook and stir until transparent but not brown. Add potatoes, salt, water, drained-corn liquid, and pepper sauce. Cut fish into 2-inch pieces and add to other ingredients. Cover and simmer gently for 20 to 25 minutes, or until the fish is tender. Add milk and corn and heat to serving temperature. Ladle chowder into warm bowls and garnish with a dash of paprika or bit of chopped parsley. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

TUNA CHOWDER

- ½ cup finely chopped onion
- ¼ cup butter, divided
- 1 cup sliced carrots
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 3 cups ½-inch cubed potato
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 2 cups boiling water
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 quart milk
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 can (7 oz.) tuna fish, drained and flaked
- Chopped parsley

Cook onion in 2 tablespoons of butter until tender; do not brown. Combine carrots, celery, potato, salt and water in 3-quart saucepan. Add onion-butter mixture and cook until vegetables are just tender; do not drain. Melt the remaining two tablespoons of butter in a 1½ quart saucepan, blend in flour. Add milk, stirring constantly and cook until smooth and thickened. Add pepper and blend well. Combine cooked vegetable mixture, sauce and tuna fish and adjust seasoning to taste. Serve piping hot in warm soup bowls. Sprinkle top with chopped parsley. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

BROCCOLI-CHEESE SOUP

- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen chopped broccoli
- ½ cup boiling water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup butter
- 2 tablespoons minced onion
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 quart milk
- 1½ cups shredded America cheese
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Cook broccoli until tender in boiling, salted water. Melter butter in saucepan, saute onion until tender; do not brown. Blend in flour. Add milk, stirring constantly. Cook and stir until sauce is smooth and thickened. Add shredded cheese, pepper and broccoli; stir until cheese is melted. Adjust salt to taste and serve steaming hot in warm soup bowls. Garnish with shreds of cheese or a dash of paprika. Makes 6 servings.

Talk

Knowing that various Lincoln residents who had taken to warmer climates were supposed to be home around about now, we did some roll-calling — Not one them was home — due, no doubt, to the fact that bad news travels very fast and they had heard about the weather in their home town. So, doubtless it will be mid-March before the sun worshippers return from Arizona, Texas or Florida.

* * *

We are not without some news from Florida, however — We learned that Miss Su Stiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stiner and a sophomore at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., had quite an honor bestowed upon her.

Miss Stiner, a Kappa Alpha Theta, was named 'Queen of Hearts' at a festive valentine affair at Rollins.

* * *

Not too much time elapses between Valentine's Day and St. Patrick's day, according to our calendar — and even less time when St. Patrick's Day is celebrated on March 4.

That is the date that the members of the Fifty Fifty Club will dine and play bridge at Hotel Cornhusker. Arranging the details for the dinner and bridge are Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Phillips.

* * *

Someone told us that Mrs. A. A. Olson left on Tuesday to return to her home in Sun City, Ariz., where she and Mr. Olson, former Lincoln residents now reside.

Dinner

Meeting for a 6 o'clock dinner at Diamond Jim's Restaurant on Thursday evening will be the members of the Lincoln Business and Professional Women's Club.

Miss Olga Cherry is in charge of the program which will feature a talk by Dell Wehling on his service with the Peace Corps in the far Pacific. Mr. Wehling will illustrate his talk with films.

Just One Celebration After Another

If all of our calculations are correct, birthday cakes should be about the hottest produce on the market these days — or, in the case of do-it-yourself fans, cake mixes. This morning, birthday festivities concern the members of the younger generation who have literally been keeping the cake-mix people and candle-manufacturers in business.

A visit to the dentist isn't really what one would choose for a birthday present, but that is exactly what was scheduled for young Tommy Viessman, son of Dr. and Mrs. Warren Viessman, Jr., on Tuesday, Feb. 25. Master Viessman who celebrated his third birthday anniversary Tuesday, had a pleasant surprise waiting for him after he returned from his first appointment with the dentist. His brothers and sisters, Steve, Mike, Wendy and Suzie, were waiting at home in Maple Village to help him celebrate at a family party complete with a special clown cake.

Saturday, Feb. 15, brought a birthday party to 240 Jeffery Dr. The celebrant was Kim Pierce, daughter of Mrs. Patricia Pierce, who ushered in her seventh birthday with a group of friends, and the festivities included a movie in the afternoon.

Helping Kim celebrate her birthday were Crystal Dallman, Anne Marie and Bill Wilson, Anne Marie Sharrar, Karen and Jo Shirk, Karen Hatch, Holly Cushing, Tricia Ruehl, Denise and Rhonda Kirefels, Rhonda Kinney, and Vicki Pierce.

Returning to Lincoln last weekend for a brief vacation from his studies was Bill Bennett, son of Southbrook Summit resident, Mrs. Doris Bennett. Bill is a freshman at Wayne State College in Wayne.

Busy doing same entertaining on Feb. 15 were Indian Village residents Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hansen. Mr. and Mrs. Hansen were host and hostess at a Saturday evening get-together attended by Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Thimgan and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Nickeson.

There was a great deal of activity in Lincoln Heights last Friday evening when the youngsters in the area gathered for a dance at the Belmont Community Center. Reigning as queen of the festivities was Miss Mary Smetter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Smetter; and the king was Billy VanDyke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill VanDyke.

Candlelight Wedding For Former Coed

At a candlelight wedding on Friday evening, Feb. 14, the marriage of Miss Ann Kuykendall, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Kuykendall, to Lt. William James Barrett, U.S. Army, son of Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Laurence O. Barrett, was solemnized at the First Baptist Church. The lines of the double ring service were read at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Victor E. Balla.

Slender, floor-length coat frocks of peau de soie in deep sapphire were worn by Mrs. Nancy Fisser of Beatrice, and Miss Ilse Gebhard, Kalamazoo, Mich., the honor attendants, and the bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Barrett and Miss Penny Barrett, sisters of the bridegroom. They wore Dior headbows in frock tone, and each carried a lighted, sea-green taper encircled with greenery.

Serving his brother as best man was Bruce Barrett, and the groomsmen were R. Gary Cox, Bruce Taylor and Robert Covolik.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Harold Kloke of Beatrice, the bride appeared in a Victorian gown of ivory velvet. Jeweled Venise lace formed a rounded collar to frame the high throatline and cuffed the long sleeves of the basque, which was banded with satin at the Empire waist above a slim skirt complemented by a detachable satin train. She carried a rounded bouquet of pink sweetheart roses, gypsophila and anthurium.

Lt. and Mrs. Barrett will reside at Ft. Sill, Okla., where the bridegroom, a former student at the University of Nebraska, will be stationed with the Army. Mrs. Barrett attended Cottey College, Nevada, Mo., and is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, from which she received her Masters degree in social work.

Showers

To be honored at a bridal shower on Saturday morning will be Miss Susan Melson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Melson, who is planning an early spring wedding for her marriage to Dave Rader of Ames, Iowa.

In courtesy to their niece, Mrs. Glenn Melson and Mrs. Dean Melson will be hostesses to 20 guests at a morning coffee, to be held at the home of Mrs. Glenn Melson.

Wednesday evening, March 12, the bride-to-be will be presented a miscellaneous shower at a party for which Mrs. Ralph Carroll will be hostess at her home. The 25 guests will include feminine members of the family and family friends.

The wedding of Miss Melson and Mr. Rader will take place Saturday, March 29, in the chapel of Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Note To—

Mini Skirt Generation

A word to the wise should be sufficient—especially when that word has to do with one's personal appearance. We are hoping, therefore, that there will be those who heed these wise words from a public relations counsel in New York City. It is a very special communique to the mini skirt generation.

Dear mini skirt generation: You're adorable and a beautiful picture of youth swinging down the avenue BUT please follow these basic rules for mini skirt wearers.

(1) Make sure that your undergarments (unless they are the kind designed to be seen) do not show when you sit down or bend over. It's a common fault of mini skirt girls!

(2) Please wear the proper stockings (panty hose seem best) with your mini skirt. Seeing where the stocking ends is another bad sight!

(3) Make sure that your legs (and that means all that shows) are hair free. If you use a regular razor, baby oil applied to the legs will insure a smooth fast shave and serve to keep them soft as well. Make it part of your regular beauty routine to rub your legs with baby oil every morning and night to keep them smooth. It will prevent chapping and rough skin that might snag your stockings.

(4) The old-fashioned learning how to sit like a lady comes in handy for mod girls. Be careful about crossing legs or sitting with knees apart. If you can't manage to look right at home in a mini skirt, you really shouldn't have it on!

(5) Don't mix a mini skirt with a bouffant hairdo or high heel shoes. They were designed to go with simple, flowing little girl hair or little-boy cropped heads and shoes on the low side.

(6) If your legs aren't reasonably good (no matter how young you are) settle for a little longer version of the mini skirt. Overweight girls should be wary of mini skirts.

(7) Don't wear a mini skirt (anyplace except at home) if you're not young—stick to ordinary short.

(8) Don't wear a micro mini skirt unless you are very young, very small — and have the courage of your conviction.

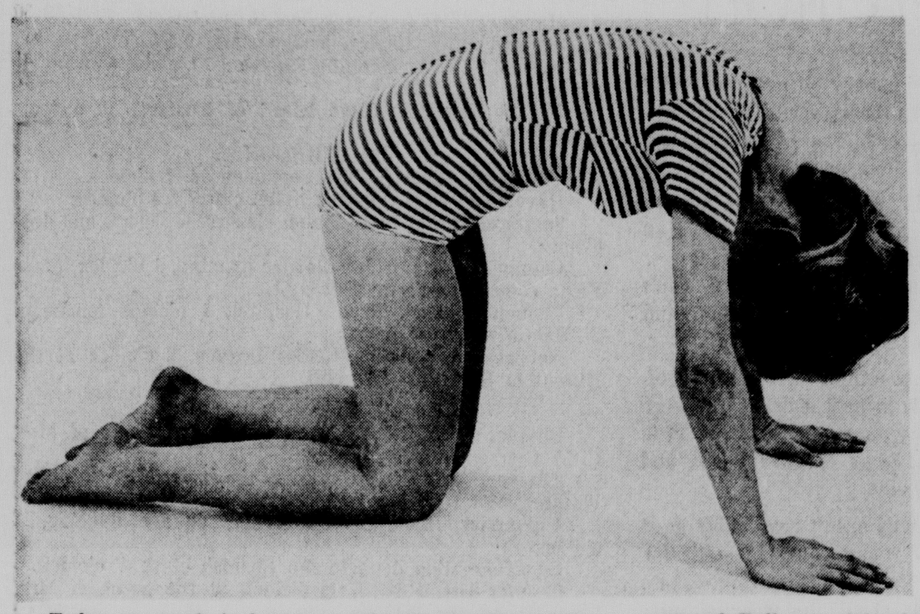
The Exercise Routine Pays



Today so much is known about how to avoid many of the physical disasters of later years and how to prolong the youthful portion of life. What a shame it is not to invest in this knowledge! Today regular daily exercise is medically approved as one of our greatest weapons against illness and premature aging.

It is so easy to put this off until tomorrow after tomorrow after tomorrow, and it is difficult to work it into a busy day. I receive many letters asking me how to do this. Of course when and how is a highly individual matter since one person's duties and schedules may be entirely different from another's. Organization of housekeeping duties and our lives generally will create more time for things we wish to do.

Many homemakers like to exercise the first thing in the morning after the departure of their family. Other women prefer to take care of part of their housework and then exercise just before lunch. They may take a short liedown afterwards. Still others like to do their exercises in the late afternoon just before a bath and fresh clothes for dinner. These are the most popular times for the housewife.

If there are pre-school age children an ideal time is while the children nap or rest. Afterward making motions for health you can snag a little rest yourself.

The woman in business does not have so much choice. Some hardy souls get up early enough to exercise before leaving for the office. However, many like to do their exercises before going to sleep at night. Others prefer the late afternoon right after returning from work.

Following is a good relaxing exercise for any time, but is particularly effective when you return from work or just before going to sleep at night.

Assume a position on all fours. Your knees should be separated a few inches. Your hips and shoulders should be in a straight line. Slowly push your back up into a hump as your head drops down. Now straighten your back as you lift your head upward. Pull your abdominal muscles in hard as you hump your back. Relax 'em as your back straightens. Continue slowly.

If you would like to have my relaxing exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Abby: wise wife

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the wife whose husband decided after five children that he wanted a younger woman described MY situation when I was raising our five youngsters.

I could have thrown him out, but I didn't on the advice of a lawyer friend who told me that our children would do better in a home with both parents — hectic as it would be at times — than in a broken home with no father at all.

I covered for my husband when possible, but our children knew we had our problems. They were taken (not sent) to church, and we did everything we could to give them a good moral upbringing. Their father, believe it or not, was very helpful, too.

Now the children are grown and gone, and have their own families. After the last was married I let their father go. There are no hard feelings. The war is over. Who needs revenge when the results are so sweet?

NOT SORRY

DEAR ABBY: My husband had too much to drink last night, and confessed that the reason he bought me that beautiful beaded bag for St. Valentine's day was because he'd bought one for his girl friend and he felt guilty. Now I don't even want the bag.

What do you think?

HURT

DEAR HURT: I think your husband should quit drinking and looking at bags.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥
1 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♠	2 NT
3 ♠	4 ♣	Pass	5 ♦

Opening lead — nine of hearts.

Here is another hand from the match played last year by Montreal against a Minneapolis-St. Paul team.

When the Twin Cities team held the North-South cards, the bidding went as shown. Obviously their bidding machinery was somewhat out of gear when they stopped at five diamonds with six virtually a laydown.

It does seem that South underbid his hand quite a bit when he failed to give proper weight to North's highly constructive bidding. North had not only responded one heart, but voluntarily bid two notrump over two spades and jumped to five diamonds over four clubs.

South should have reasoned that if partner had the ace of hearts and any four diamonds including the king there would be a good chance for not only a small slam but even a grand slam.

For South to assume that his partner lacked both these features was the height of pessimism. Perhaps South was concerned by his opening bid with only 12 high-card points; if so, he shamefully undervalued his 6-6-1-0 distribution.

When Montreal held the North-South cards, they also errored on the hand though in the opposite direction. With East-West silent throughout, the bidding went:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 NT
Pass	6 ♦	Pass	7 ♦

North realized that South probably had a 6-6-1-0 hand, and he deliberately bid the grand slam in the hope that either South's singleton was a heart or that West would not find the killing spade lead, if that proved to be South's singleton.

As it happened, neither hope materialized when it turned out that West had the ace of spades and led it. So the Minneapolis team gained 490 points on the deal despite their gross under-bid at the first table — which simply goes to show that sometimes crime does pay.

Luncheon Speaker

John Anderson, Jr., former governor of Kansas, will be the guest speaker next Tuesday when the League of Women Voters will entertain the state legislators and their wives at luncheon at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Mr. Anderson, who will speak on the Nebraska state constitution, is president of the national Citizens' Conference on State Legislatures, an organization which seeks to improve the stature and functioning of state legislatures in the nation.

Tuesday morning, league members from Lincoln and throughout the state will make their traditional biennial visit to the state legislature, following a coffee and briefing session at the Governor's Mansion.

Following the luncheon, league members have been invited to attend the Unicameral session and various committee hearings.

Another Visit To Aspen

(c) New York Times Service

Aspen, Colo.—One of the most interesting food trends today is the proliferation of dishes called, sometimes facetiously, fondues.

Fondue, of course, means melted, and the original creation was made with a blend of melted cheese, a bit of thickening and white wine, all lightly laced with that incomparable, crystal-clear and cherry-based spirit called Kirschwasser.

Next came Fondue Bourguignonne, generally made with beef cooked in hot oil. Then came Fondue Orientale, imitative of two authentic Japanese and Chinese dishes in which meats are cooked in simmering broth.

Well, you can get the whole bag at the Tower Fondue restaurant at a new development called Snow-Mass-At-Aspen about half an hour's drive from Aspen itself. The restaurant isn't entirely successful in these fondue endeavors, but a visit can make for an interesting evening.

You can start with deep-fried pieces of crab served with a too-sweet and pungent curry sauce with a mayonnaise base. This was followed by — on a recent evening — a hot and creamy mushroom soup. Or you can have a small individual serving of cheese fondue to begin.

The cheese fondue comes off best, since it seems to have been made with the proper stuff.

The trouble with the Fondue Bourguignonne (it is listed simply as beef or shrimp fondue) is the total lack of imagination in the various sauces for dipping. The use of shrimp is a novelty and one not badly conceived, but the sauces consist of a chutney, a mustard sauce and a butter sauce, none of which have any special flair. A good bearnaise, a well-seasoned tomato sauce and so on would be infinitely preferable.

The Tower's Fondue Orientale, listed as made with fillet of beef, actually included a few rather tough pieces of meat to be cooked in chicken broth. One of the sauces was wildly sweet and smacked of diluted marmalade.

Only a step or so away and up a flight of stairs is an altogether pleasant, unpretentious restaurant called the Refectory, and the bill of fare is as informal as the surroundings.

The heart of the dining room is an open grill where hamburgers and steaks are cooked by young men. The food comes off well be it top sirloin or a beef kebab, and there is an excellent salad bar where guests may help themselves.

Tico's is a small and neat restaurant with two rooms, a busy bar and a few unflappable waitresses in black sombreros.

The tenor of the menu is fairly predictable with its enchiladas, tacos, tamales and the like. The food is reasonably good. The best dish sampled there was an order of guacamole, which was expertly seasoned.

PEO Chapter

Mrs. J. P. Colbert will be hostess to the members of Chapter CS, PEO, at a 12:30 o'clock luncheon on Friday. The luncheon will be held at the Colbert home, 3227 Sheridan.

Sad shirts? Drab dresses? Blah blouses?

It puts the "new" back

And we're not kidding. New Sta-Flo Fabric Finish actually restores the original body, feel and appearance to your entire wash. Works wonders with cottons, linens, synthetics . . . even new durable-press fabrics. Makes ironing easier. Puts crispness in, but never stiffness. And that's what we mean when we say, it puts the "new" back.

(and we'll prove it.)

Here is a practial little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

THE GIRLS

by Franklin Folger

"I'll tell you what—we could just dab it on our hands and if it makes men TOO unruly we could put our gloves on!"

Maraviches, LSU Having Hard Times

Baton Rouge, La. (AP) — Pistol Pete Maravich, college basketball's leading scorer, is hobbling with a knee injury and Louisiana State is limping along with an 11-12 record.

The 6-foot-5 all-American, a gaunt, flop-haired dynamo, has taken a great deal of punishment in the rugged Southeastern Conference.

But Tiger coach Press Maravich, Pete's dad, makes no alibis for LSU's record.

"I've got to use my talent," Press says. "If you've got O. J. Simpson, you've got to run him 40 or 45 times a game. My talent now is Pete, it may be John Smith in the future. So I've got to build my offense around him."

In his father's mind, young Pete is "the greatest player I've seen. I don't care what anybody says. There' nobody in America who can touch him."

Maravich brought his team into the season with hopes of bettering LSU's 14-12 record of a year ago and possibly a post-season tournament bid.

But that is hardly the case. LSU is struggling to match its 1968 mark — and the Maraviches are not at all happy with the way things have turned out.

"Pete is sick about it," his father said. "He would trade all those points he has made for five or six more victories."

Last year the Tigers ran up a 7-2 record and captured the All-College Tournament with an upset over Duquesne. LSU was regarded as a Cinderella team. But when SEC play started, the Tigers went into a tailspin.

Why? The bread and butter of basketball — defense and rebounding — said coach Maravich.

Pete, meantime, kept up the fantastic scoring clip that he said before the season didn't concern him. He averaged a 44 per cent from the field, less than a percentage point higher than his present average.

"I think Pete is better than he was last year," his father said. "He's a lot smarter. He hasn't forced any shots. He's better on assists and, in fact, has broken a school record with his assists."

Press said that Pete has taken fewer shots than last year, despite his reputation of being a "gunner" among critics. But Pete had to shoot, said his father, to keep LSU in the games.

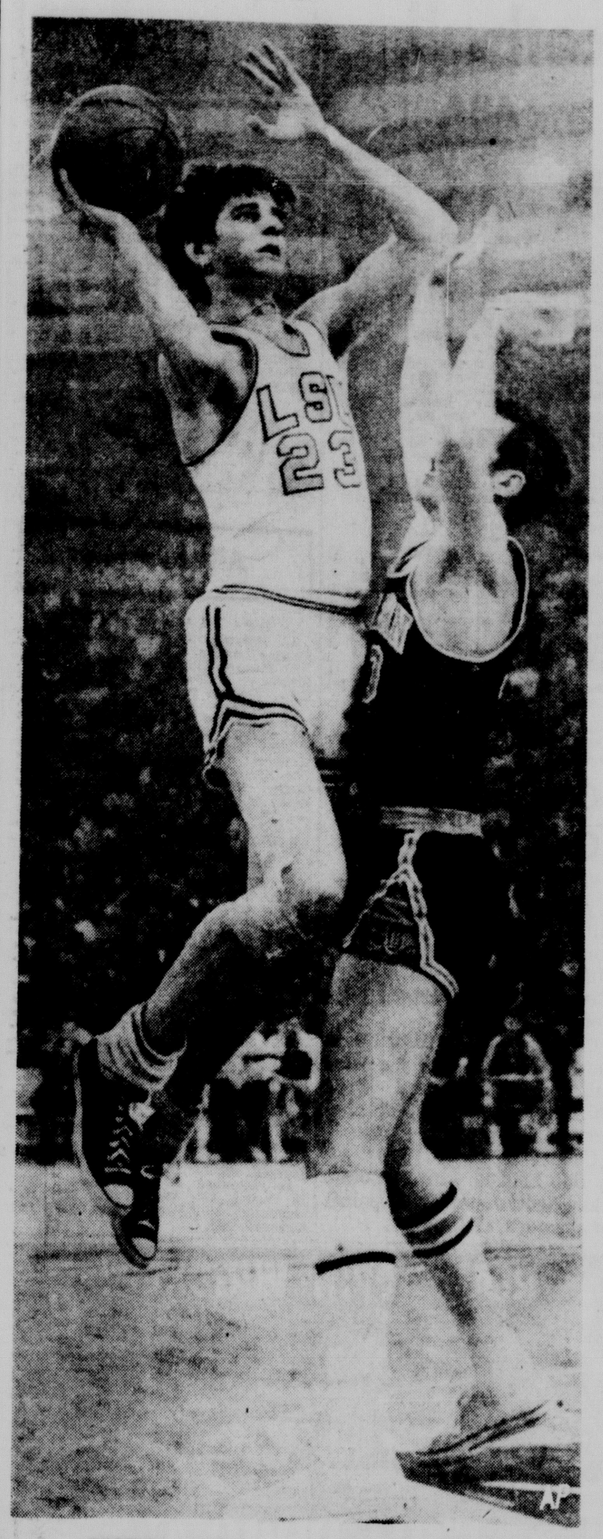
Maravich is still smarting over allegations made in a poll of SEC officials that it was his "parental concern" for Pete that caused him to loose his cool during games.

"I'm no worse than anybody else in the league," he said.

Young Maravich can be a razzle-dazzle player. He dribbles behind his back and between his legs with ease, fires blind passes with abandon and leads LSU's fast break with tremendous drive. And there are his dirty gray lucky socks which are a tipoff to his superstitious nature.

When Pistol Pete is on, he is dazzling. But when he has an off night, you hear grumbles that all he is interested in is scoring — and all his father is interested in is a fat professional contract for his son.

Nothing angers Press, a former pro player himself, more. He says his only concern is to build a winning team at LSU.



PISTOL PETE . . . doing his thing.

'Yaz' Inks Fat Red Sox Contract

By Associated Press

The Boston Red Sox signed their big man — outfielder Carl Yastrzemski — Wednesday to a two-year contract for what they believe to be the highest salary in the American League.

That could put the American League's batting champion and only .300 hitter in the $125,000 class, although the Sox didn't say, according to custom, how much he will collect.

Yaz, who hit .301 last season after winning the AL's Triple Crown in 1967, was paid $100,000 last year while Frank Robinson, the 1966 Triple Crown champion for the Baltimore Orioles, was estimated to have made $115,000 in 1968.

"He is the best player in the American League and, as far as I know, this will make him the highest paid player in the American League," said Dick O'Connell, the club's general manager.

"This is a happy moment in my life," said Yastrzemski at the Red Sox' camp at Winter Haven, Fla.

He added he believes the new contract makes him the "highest paid player in Red Sox history."

Ted Williams, new manager of the Washington Senators, reportedly received $125,000 when he was a player with Boston.

"All I can say is that if he (Williams) got $125,000 then I'm the highest paid player in Red Sox history," said Yaz.

"I'm looking forward to a terrific season for myself and for the Red Sox," he continued. "I realize there's a limit to what I can get. Next time I hope to sign a long range contract."

With the baseball pensions dispute settled, many of the name players and regulars quickly signed or agreed to terms and reported to the training camps.

There still were plenty of unsatsfied players, however, including Dean Chance. The star right-hander of the Minnesota Twins said he has been offerd a salary cut of $9,000 — from $60,000 to $51,000.

"I want a $5,000 raise," said Chance in New York. "I won't report to camp."

The New York Yankees and New York Mets each signed their two leading pitchers The Yanks brought right-hander Mel Stottlemyre and southpaw Fritz Peterson into the fold. The Mets landed right-hander Tom Seaver and lefty Jerry Koosman for substantial raises.

Mickey Mantle, the Yanks' aging slugger, is expected to report to camp this weekend to discuss his future with president Mike Burke. It is possible Mantle may announce his retirement.

The Chicago White Sox signed a batch including star pitchers Gary Peters and Joel Horlen and relief reliable Bob Locker. However, Wilbur Wood, who relieved in a record 88 games, and outfielder Ken Berry, balked at terms offered by the Sox.

Cincinnati signed catcher Johnny Bench, the National League's Rookie of the Year in 1968, and pitchers Jim Maloney, often a reluctant signer, Jim Merritt, and Mel Queen, among others.

Catcher Tom Haller and outfielder Ando Kosco agreed to terms with Los Angeles but pitcher Claude Osteen and outfielder Len Gabrielson informed the Dodgers they won't come to camp until they were satisfied. The Dodgers have invited all unsigned players to work out at camp while negotiating contracts.

A flock of regulars turned out for the workouts of the champion Detroit Tigers at Lakeland, Fla. But among the missing were six unsigned players, including sluggers Al Kaline, Willie Horton and Norm Cash, catcher Jim Price, and relievers Elroy Face and Don McMahon.

AHL SETS NWU RECORD

O.R. Tops Plainsmen By 96-82

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Little Kenny Ahl scored 19 points Wednesday night to become the highest scorer in Nebraska Wesleyan basketball history, but it wasn't enough for the Plainsmen to win their home finale as they dropped a 96-82 decision to Oral Roberts University of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The game was much closer than the final score indicates.

Oral Roberts trailed, 45-41, at the half, but overtook the Plainsmen soon after the intermission, 50-48, on a three-point play by 6-0 guard Richard Williams with 16:38 to go in the game.

The taller Oklahoma club could not pull away from Wesleyan, however, despite a big advantage underneath the boards.

With 9:07 left to play, coach Bill White's visitors held only a slim 71-69, margin, but from that point on they widened it consistently.

Wesleyan failed to score for four minutes, while Oral Roberts, led by 6-5 Tyrone Brandon, moved to a 84-73 margin.

A layup by Williams made it 86-73, the widest spread of the game by either team, and that wrapped up Wesleyan's 13th loss of the season against 12 wins.

In the first half Wesleyan had rallied from a similar deficit to take the 45-41 halftime lead.

The Plainsmen, down by 10, 24-14, with 11:12 to go in the first half, found the range from the outside against the taller and tight Titan man-to-man defense to tie it up, 30-all on a driving layin by Ahl

The Plainsmen, with a long jump shot by Ahl, a set shot by Kim Busch and two free throws by Ernie Strasil, were able to take a six-point lead, 38-32, with 4:14 left in the half before the Titans ralled to within one, 38-37, with 2:54 to go.

Ahl, who along with Busch, were playing their final home game in a Plainsman uniform, eclipsed the all-time Wesleyan scoring record with 15:57 to go in the second half on a jump shot from the top of the key.

He went into the game needing 12 points to overtake the 1617 points scored by Rudy Stoehr in the late 1950's and early '60's.

Stoehr established the mark in 2½ years of play. Ahl needed three years to break it, but can add to it tonight against Dana at Blair in the final game of the season for Wesleyan. Ahl now has 1625 career points.

His 19 points led a balanced NWU scoring attack which placed all five starters in double figures. Busch closed out his home court career with a 17-point performance, one of his best.

Williams paced the winners with 28 points, hitting 12 of 14 shots from the field. He was followed by Brandon with 23 and Paul Massey with 19.

Chalk Pleases Husker Fans

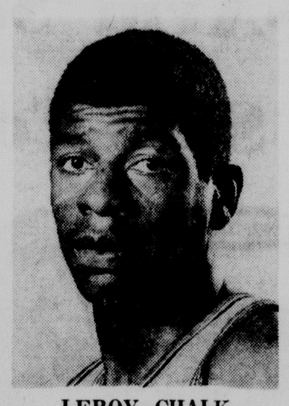
. . . HOME FINALE SATURDAY

There have been lots of sad moments during Nebraska's 10-13 season, but lots of nice things happen, too.

As far as nice things go, coach Joe Cipriano tips his hat to Husker center Leroy Chalk. Chalk has been a fan favorite all season, but the 7,000 fans on hand to watch the Huskers bomb Colorado out of first place in the Big Eight roared approval of Chalk's hustle, rebounding and shooting time after time. He wound up with 18 points and 14 rebounds, plus helping to hold down Cliff Meely to 13 points as Nebraska won, 79-65.

"It doesn't surprise me a bit that the fans like Leroy," Cipriano says. "First of all, he's a fine young man who has given 100 per cent and more all season. Secondly, he's a fine player, with ability and desire. In fact, Leroy Chalk is one of the finest big men in the Big Eight."

Cipriano said the Coliseum fans "are buzzing about his improvement, but actually he's played like that a lot on the road. But we've had our problems at home."



LEROY CHALK

Chalk was named to the all-tournament team in the Sun Devil Classic and has had a number of fine road games.

Leroy and the Huskers will be making their final home appearance of the season at the Coliseum Saturday night at 7:35 p.m., when the Kansas State Wildcats invade.

"We'll need to give the same defensive effort," Cipriano said. "Jerry Venable can be as tough as Meely and Gene Williams will be another tough one for Chalk to guard."

Chance Won't Report Until Terms All Right

. . . WON'T TAKE $9,000 CUT

New York (AP) — Dean Chance said Wednesday there there's bound to be some hard feelings among the players this year because of the now settled pension strike.

But the star Minnesota right-hander prefers to fire his ammunition at club owner Cal Griffith.

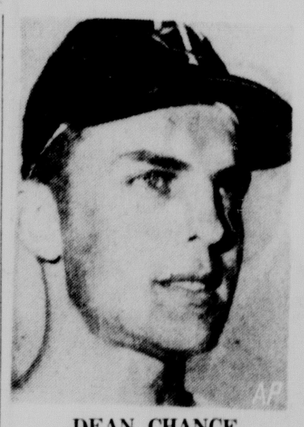
"We have a good chance to take the pennant this year," said the tall, handsome pitcher, "but Griffith isn't helping by the way he's cutting salaries. He's trying to cut me $9,000 but I won't take it. I want a raise."

He said most of the Twins' regulars held out against signing contracts or reporting to spring training during the pension dispute.

Would he be resentful of some of the regulrs of the other clubs who signed and reported to camp before the dispute was over.

"No, I don't think so" he said. "I can sympathize with some of them. But there's going to be some hard feelings in the league against some others."

The 28-year-old hurler said Griffith "is trying to chop me from $60,000 to $51,000 but I won't take it. I think I ought to get a $5,000 raise even if my record was 16-16. With any kind of a break I could have won 20 easily. I also pitched in relief and had three saves.



DEAN CHANCE

"I've had more complete games and shutouts than any other pitcher in the American League since 1962. Last year I beat the Tigers four times."

The 6-foot-3, 204-pounder from Wooster, Ohio, was 13th in the league in earned runs last year with 2.53 for a seventh place team that was last in fielding.

He said the Twins figured to have their toughest contention in the league's Western Division from Oakland. Also in the weaker half of the two-division league are the Chicago White Sox, California Angels and the two expansion teams from Seattle and Kansas City.

"This should help the team and me," said Chance. "It should be easier."

Chance said he has been working out at Canton, Ohio, and feels real good. He said he has no intention of going to camp until he is satisfied with terms.

"I think I have a real good year coming up," he said.

Chance won the Cy Young Award as pitcher of the year in 1964 on a 20-9 record and 1.65 ERA. In 1967 his 20-14, 2.73 record won him the Comeback of the Year award.

The pitcher, who has been bitten by the fight bug, was here to help promote Ray Anderson, an Akron, Ohio light heavyweight whom he manages. Anderson also is Chance's partner in Fight Promotions, a unique fighter-manager relationship.

Tim Woods, Schuba Top Skate Field

Colorado Springs, Colo. (AP) — Tim Wood of Detroit got off to an imposing start in the men's singles and Beatrice Schuba, a big Austrian girl, beat out the favored Gabriele Seyfert of East Germany in the ladies' compulsory figures Wednesday in the World Figure Skating Championships.

The poised Wood, U.S. and North American champion, skated the first two of six compulsory figures almost faultlessly for a total of 333.6 points.

He had a 23.6 edge over Ondrej Nepla of Czechoslovakia, the European champion, who was second with 310.0.

Patrick Pera, the flashy Frenchman, was third at 299.6, followed by Canada's Jay Humphrey, 290.0.

Gary Fisconti of Detroit skated into fifth place with 284.8 points, followed by Gunther Zoller of East Germany, 283.2, and the other American, John Misha Petkevich of Harvard and Great Falls, Mont. 282.8.

Wood was so superb in his opening figures that he became the first competitor in the event, man or woman, to receive as much as a five-point score on a figure. In the second figure, a forward paragraph three, one judge gave him 5.0 and another 5.1 in a grading system in which six is perfect.

The final four school figures by the men will be performed Thursday with the free-skating final Friday night.

Top-Seeded Shickley Cagers, Hardy Hit District Finals At Deshler Meet

By DEAN TERRELL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Deshler — Tourney favorite Shickley and Hardy eased into Friday night's Class D finals here by sprinting past Clay Center and Chester-Hubbell Wednesday night.

Top-seeded Shickley had slightly the harder go against Clay Center, 54-44. Hardy's Dragons handled Chester-Hubbell, 41-28.

Shickley, now sporting a 16-3 season, had a sputtering start and was a bit erratic all evening. Though passing the Wildcats in the first frame and building to 27-13, they saw the lead dwindle to seven by halftime.

A scoring burst of five straight fielders by Lonnie Benson, the game's best with 25 counters, shot the Longhorns to a 45-31 edge entering the last frame. Held to the outside, Clay Center netted only seven points in the third and 13 in the finale.

Coach Richard Ideus' winners had big help from 5-8 Dallas Schlegel, a 15-pointer and one of four starting juniors. Roger Moore and Darrell Kluver totaled 12 each for Clay Center, with Wade Remmenga only one behind.

An arm injury suffered early by Shickley's Jeff Biegert makes him a questionable starter in the finals.

The somewhat ragged nightcap avenged one of Hardy's two losses against a backdrop of 13 wins. But as usual, tournament-savvy Chester-Hubbell kept things interesting.

Behind 29-19 as the third ended, the Buildogs pulled within five before faultering. A mere 21 per cent from the field, plus the loss of Stan Schleifer to the flu, were costly.

Scoring was well-sprinkled for both teams, with Hardy's Dan Corman and Chester's Billy Navis each high at 10.

World's Richest Turf Race Set For Suffolk

Boston (AP) — Suffolk Downs announced Wednesday inauguration of the world's richest turf race — a $200,000—added handicap scheduled for Saturday June 28.

President Bill Veck told a news conference the two-mile event will be for three-year-olds and older. The name of the race will be selected by a committee of the New England Turf Writers' Association after judging entries from members.

Belinsky Hopes To Stick Now

. . . NOW-SERIOUS HURLER BACK IN MAJORS WITH CARDS

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP) — Bo Belinsky, the flamboyant left-hander now working with the St. Louis Cardinals, is a man with a mission — to make it back to baseball's big time.

"This is a team that is looking for a winner — a man to do a job," the one-time playboy said. "Those other clubs I was with (the California Angels, Houston Astros, Philadelphia Phillies) were looking for young phenoms."

Belinsky, who has spent most of the last three years in the minors, said he is making his comeback try as "a more mature" man "with a more mature outlook" than the youthful hurler who once pitched a no-hitter and kept the fans amused with his romantic involvements and pool playing episodes.

He's married now to the former Jo Collins, one-time Playmate of the Year for Playboy magazine. They expect their first child in July.

But something of the old Bo shows through when he starts talking about suits and countersuits involving the Magallanes team of the Venezuelan, League, the team with which he played winter ball.

Belinsky is being sued by the Venezuelan team for $1,000 for jumping the team. He has a countersuit going for $33,000 for back pay, damages and air fare.

"That place down there is something," Bo said. "I was going good, needed two more victories to earn a $1,000 bonus. Suddenly I wasn't getting my turn. The club had it won and I wasn't getting my turn. One day they asked me to pitch. I hadn't worked in 11 days and my arm was kind of kinky. I told them I'd try. But it turned out I couldn't pitch.

"The papers crucified me.

"You know, they could do anything to you down there and no one would know. They could take you up in those mountains and no one would ever hear of you again."

But you get the feeling that Bo definitely will be heard from again.

The Cardinals drafted Belinsky off the Hawaii roster in the Pacific Coast League where he had a 9-14 record with a losing team in 1968. He posted a 2.97 earned run average.

Kestel qualified in the 105-pound class by defeating John Miller of Oregon. Wells qualified in the 163-pound class by eliminating Dick Marcucci of Chicago. Fozzard qualified in the 180-pound class by eliminating George Radman of New York.

The qualifying continues Thursday at the New York A.C. Athletic Club.

Wayne Takes Title, 97-66

Wayne (AP) — Defending champion Wayne State College ripped to another Nebraska College Conference basketball title and a berth in the NAIA District 11 playoff against Doane College with a 97-66 romp over Peru State here Wednesday night.

Wayne (21-3 overall and 7-1 in the conference) jumped to a 9-1 lead in the first three minutes. Peru drew within five points, 36-31, with three minutes left in the first half but Wayne caught fire, increasing its margin from that point on.

Junior forward Bill Goodwin set his personal collegiate scoring record and the highest scoring effort for the Wayne squad this year with 37 points. Clarence Glover hit 20 points for Peru (18-9, 6-2).

Huskers Mix Youth, Vets

. . . BLEND CARRIES NU TRACK HOPES IN LOOP FESTIVAL

When the Nebraska Cornhuskers open action in the Big Eight Track and Field Championships at Kansas City, they'll be firing a mixture of youth and experience at the loop.

Top names among the youngsters are freshman Garth Case and sophomore Greg Carlberg. Chief among the old hands are defending champions Dan Morran and Clifton Forbes.

Forbes will be captaining his second team of the year. He also served as captain of the Jamaican Olympic team at Mexico City.

Case has the potential to be one of the top performers in the Big Eight, but he'll go into the meet as a relative unknown.

"Garth hasn't been pushed so far and he's undefeated," Sevigne said. "He's a great young competitor and he has a great future."

Case could have competed on Forbes' Jamaica club, too but elected to by-pass Mexico City to enroll at Nebraska and start his education.

Another outstanding member of the youth movement of course, is Carlberg, who came to the Cornhuskers via a chance tip from Big Eight indoor 880 champ Morran.

"Greg didn't burn up the track as a high-schooler," Sevigne said. "But Morran said he was a good competitor and was a prospect so we offeed him a little aid. I'm sure glad we did because he's going to be great."

Sevigne said Carlberg "has the mental capacity — by that I mean he is stable and not flaky — to accept the hard work involved without getting upset. He's got a great temperament, in addition to fine speed.

"Carlberg has all the tools to become a champion, and by that I mean a national champion," Sevigne said.

Wesleyan Cagers Conclude At Dana

Probable Lineups

NWU (12-12)	Pos.	DANA (7-15)
J. Brown (6-5)	F	(6-1) Jahnke
T. Brown (6-3)	F	(6-1) Peterson
Strasil (6-5)	C	(6-5) Krueger
Busch (5-9)	G	(6-0) Biddle
Ahl (5-10)	G	(5-9) Larsen

Tipoff: 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Borup Colliseum, Blair.

Dana College has run up against some stiff competition in the Tri-State Conference this year, yet coach Jerry Rainforth remains impressed with Nebraska Wesleyan's cage team.

Possibly Jerry having graduated from NWU in 1954 could have something to do with this, or Wesleyan's 94-71 triumph over the Vikings in the December Midwest Tournament still weighs heavily on his mind.

At any rate, Rainforth enjoys competition against his alma mater, and he would like nothing better than to even the score at Blair Thursday night in a return engagement with the Plainsmen.

The Vikings go into their season finale at 7-15, which is a respectable mark considering the strength of Yankton, Sioux Falls and Westmar in the Tri-State League.

Rainforth's crew has already won more than twice the number of games the 1967-68 club managed, and in his first year at Dana, the former Blair High School mentor did the job with youth.

Three of the regular Vikings are underclassmen. Big 6-5 center Jeff Beatty is a sophomore as is 6-1 sharpshooting forward Rick Jahnke. Getting a lot of experience at guard has been 6-0 freshman John Biddle.

Rainforth's other performers will be 5-9 guard Jerry Larsen, 6-1 forward Rex Mahlman and 6-4 Dave Busse.

Dana 4-4 at one point in the season, but then won only three of its next 14 games. The Vikings are in the midst of a five-game losing streak, despite scoring over 80 points in three of those contests.

The Vikings had the unenviable distinction of breaking Concordia's 22-game losing streak last weekend, by bowing at Seward, 86-71. NWU has an overwhelming 25-2 edge in the Dana series.

Husker Matmen Host Wyoming

Nebraska's wrestling team will be going after its fourth win of the season Friday night against Wyoming at the NU Coliseum at 7:30 p.m.

Coach Orval Borgialli's squad has a 3-6 record. The Husker lineup remains intact with the exception of 137 pounds.

"We'll have to decide later on that weight entry," Borgialli said.

The Husker lineup for Wyoming:

123—Keith Hasselquist (1-4-1)
130—Doug Erickson (1-9)
137—Undecided
145—Tom Meier (3-3)
152—Dennis Dobson (4-2-1)
160—Joe George (3-5-1)
167—Harold Pavondra (2-5)
177—Jim Haug (5-6)
Heavyweight—Gene Libal (8-5-1)

Omaha Pros Considering Heelan Coach

Omaha (AP) — Sioux City Heelan High School coach Don Fleming is being considered as the new Omaha Mustang football coach.

Mustang officials said Wednesday the field of prospects has been narrowed to about three candidates, but declined to name them.

Others who have been interviewed recently, in addition to Fleming, include Dewey Wade, an instructor at Omaha Technical Junior High School who was an assistant on the Mustang staff two years ago, and Dallas Dyer, head football coach at Rummel High School in Omaha.

The Mustangs early last week announced they had interviewed Ken Fischer, assistant coach at Hiram Scott College.

The committee added that it also had screened another coach who had asked not to be identified at this time.

Should Fleming take the position, he would succeed one of his former pupils, Bernie Berigan, who resigned the Mustang job.

Fleming coached Berigan at Creighton Prep shortly after World War II. Fleming also was an assistant to coach Lisle Blackbourn when Berigan played football at Marquette University.

Duck Season May Be Closed For 14 States

Jefferson City, Mo. (AP) — When the Mississippi flyway council meets Sunday in Washington it will receive the recommendation of its biologists that the duck season in the flyway states be closed this year because of the poor showing of Mallard ducks.

The technical section of the council met last week in Paducah, Ky., to survey the situation and it made the recommendation after reviewing pessimistic reports. The first confirmation of the recommendation came Wednesday from Larry Gale, assistant director of the Missouri Conservation Commission.

The Mississippi Flyway Council is made up of the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, Arkansas, Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Louisiana.

Great Plains Diving Council Sets Meeting

Davis New NU Athletic Faculty Representative

Dean John R. Davis will replace Dr. Merk Hobson as the University of Nebraska's athletic faculty representative to the Big Eight Conference, it was announced Wednesday.

Both Dr. Davis and Dr. Hobson will attend the annual meeting of the faculty representatives at Kansas City this weekend. Dr. Hobson has represented the University in this capacity since 1964.

Dr. Davis is dean of the University's College of Engineering and Architecture.

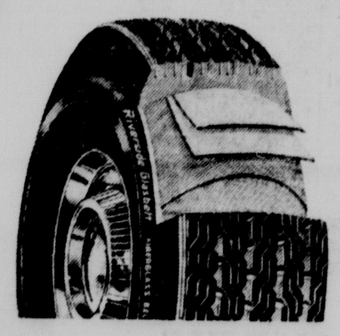
- Has 2 fiber glass belts that reduce squirming tread
- 2 cross plies of nylon cord give you better handling
- With Riverside® lifetime quality and road hazard guarantee; dependable 30-month treadwear guarantee

The tire the experts asked for:



"Looking at our results, it is easy to see why radial ply tires are so appealing. But the more we look, the more we feel that all the advantages are a result of the belt, which stabilizes the tread, and not the radial plies themselves. In fact, the areas where the radial tires show signs of weakness can be related to the radial plies, not the belt. We can't help but think that a combination tire — a cross ply with a belt — would be an admirable solution."

Three Lincolnites Injured Slightly

Three Lincoln residents were treated and released from Lincoln General Hospital following a two-car accident at the intersection of 27th and Q Wednesday evening, hospital authorities said.

Lincoln police said the accident occurred when a car driven by Lynn E. Chase, 22, 2918 Clinton, came in collision with a car driven by John Tutty, 49, 4400 So. 44th.

Miss Chase was thrown from the car on impact and suffered minor cuts and bruises, hospital authorities said. A passenger in the car with her, Betty L. Carlson, 327 No. 31st, also suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Tutty was treated for a broken nose and released, police said.

New Lincoln Motor Hotel Plans Readied

Plans for a motor hotel facility in Lincoln have been revealed by the North Platte-based Motel Development Co.

The eight-month-old company is working out details for a 10-motel complex called Sky-Rise Inns.

A group of Lincoln investors, yet to be announced, are negotiating for a tract in the Union Pacific Industrial Park, a site northwest of Lincoln and adjacent to Municipal Airport.

Each motel in the complex will be owned by a separate corporation, but the Motel Development Co. will participate in each, company officials said.

The firm is concentrating its developments near interstate highways because it "believes that the interstate system is changing traffic and motor hotel patterns, particularly in the Midwest."

Motel Development broke ground on a motel-convention center complex between Boulder and Longmont, Colo., last December. The design, by Hahn, Dunn and Gardner of North Platte, will serve as the prototype for all motels in the system.

Other motor hotels are planned at North Platte, Omaha, Council Bluffs, Des Moines, Wichita, Oklahoma City, Helena, Mont. and Atlanta, Ga.

British Historian Will Visit Doane

Crete (UPI) — Dr. Eric Sigsworth of York University in England will make two formal appearances on the Doane College campus Thursday.

From 1 to 3 p.m. Dr. Sigsworth, a British business historian, will conduct a convocation, and from 3 to 4 p.m. he will conduct a joint seminar for students, faculty and interested businessmen.

Area Of Los Angeles Rioting Receives $7.6 Million Grant

Los Angeles (AP) — The Nixon administration announced Wednesday plans to invest $7.6 million in what will be the largest industrial park in the Watts area of Los Angeles — where scars still are visible from large-scale Negro rioting in 1965.

The project, the announcement said, "will produce goods and jobs and hopes."

Celes King, head of the Los Angeles chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, praised the plan as a partial answer to the crucial problem of jobs in the Negro community.

10 Points Higher

"Unemployment is our greatest problem," he said. "The unemployment rate in Watts is 10 points higher than the national average."

The park, to be developed by the nonprofit Economic Resources Corporation, a biracial group of businessmen, will be located at the easternmost part of the South Central Los Angeles community known as Watts-Willowbrook.

Secretary of Commerce Morris H. Stans in Washington said the 34.5-acre site is now occupied mostly by junkyards and "other facilities of little economic value." He said the project will not require any residents to move.

King noted in Los Angeles that several similar plans previously proposed would have meant relocation of residents.

"Most people in the community will applaud this move," he said, "because it does not displace people."

Jay Jackson, director of the Economic Resources Corporation office in Los Angeles, said clearing of the land would begin within 45 days. He said all of the land involved has already been purchased.

The ERC was created by the Department of Commerce and began its work in the closing months of the Johnson administration.

Winter Weather Deaths Total 37

By The Associated Press

California's ravaging rains abated Wednesday, but crippling snow continued for the third day in New England.

The death toll resulting from storms on opposite sides of the continent stood at 37. Twenty-seven deaths were attributed to the snowstorm and 10 persons died in floods and mudslides in soggy Southern California.

Most of New England got 12 inches of new snow Wednesday, but many areas reported two feeet or more. Snow was expected to continue through the night.

Most of the storm-related deaths in the East were blamed on overexertion. Traffic continued to move slowly, although plows have been out clearing roads since Monday. Power and telephone outages were numerous.

A bit of snow extended down to New York. There were flurries for a radius of 50 to 100 miles of the city.

Southern California was still cleaning up from heavy rains last January and earlier this month when it was hit by a three-day deluge that emptied another 16 inches on the area. Skies cleared Wednesday morning.

Five of the people killed in California were buried alive Tuesday when a wall of mud and debris smashed into a fire station in Silverado Canyon in Orange County. Eight others were reported missing and 20 were injured.

More than 60 persons had taken refuge in the fire station from their canyon homes when the wall of the mountain crashed down upon it.

Earthquake Felt In West Germany

Peace Hopes Boost Stocks

New York (AP) — A spark of hope about Vietnam peace was enough to snap a string of seven straight stock market declines Wednesday. Trading was slack.

Stocks rose on news that U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge had reported from Paris that there had been "some progress" in Vietnam peace talks.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 5.97 to 905.77.

Volume was 9.54 million shares, compared with 12.32 million Tuesday. It was the lowest volume since last Sept. 3 when 8.62 million shares changed hand in a then-normal 5½-hour session. The market is now on a four-hour day.

In early trading, gains outnumbered losses by more than 200 isssues on the New York Stock Exchange, but the Dow industrials were a shade higher due to selective recoveries by blue chips. The day began with increased fears of higher interest rates and tighter credit, specifically with louder comment about the likelihood of another jump in the prime interest rate charged by the biggest banks to their best customers.

Of 1,575 issues traded, 685 rose, and 658 fell. New lows for the year totaled 97. The single new high was Reliable Stores when-issued.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.1 to 339.6, with industrials up 3.2, rails off .5, and utilities up .4.

Nine of the 15 most-active stocks rose, 5 fell, and American Telephone was unchanged at 51⅜.

Occidental Petroleum won a spurt of renewed trading interest and ran up 1⅜ to 45⅜ as most-active stock on turnover of 105,300 shares.

Among other very heavily traded issues, Control Data gained 3¼, City Investing 1¼, and Atlantic Richfield ⅞, while Loew's Theatres slumped 1¾, and Gulf Oil dropped ⅝.

All Big Three automakers made fractional gains. The major steels were irregular higher, with U.S. Steel up 1⅛ and Jones & Laughlin down 1.

Prices rose on the American Stock Exchange on volume of 4.73 million shares compared with 5.83 million Tuesday.

Cattle Trade Is Selective And Cautious

Omaha (AP) — A light run of cattle at various midlands markets Wednesday seemed to stir a cautious and selective buying side, leaving price trends at best steady.

Trade was rather sluggish at Omaha. Supplies fell a bit under 5,000 head and the general finish of offerings remained relatively poor, many cattle still carrying substantial coats of mud and grading just choice and less.

Hog prices held generally steady. Marketings continued light. Wholesale pork prices were little changed.

Theologian Says Modern Church Is 'Out Of Touch'

A Boston University theology teacher told a Nebraska Wesleyan University convocation audience that, "The church today is living in the tombs of the past and out of touch with reality."

Dr. Robert Treese is on the NWU campus as part of a three-day Religion-In-Life series of lectures on the theme, "Does the Church Have a Future in a Secular Urban World?"

The speaker told his listeners that in today's urban oriented life that the church is no longer the center of a community. "The church is really up against it," noted Dr. Treese. "It is no secret that the average age of church goers today is well over 45.

"Also there are ministers leaving the profession today at a faster rate than new ones are being readied in our theology schools."

Wheat Futures Prices Advance

Chicago (AP) — Wheat futures advanced nearly 1 cent a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday and tended to influence some buying of rye futures, but other grains and soybeans were generally weak.

Trade was, at best, only moderate between the opening and closing, except for a few spurts of activity.

Wheat futures came under early speculative liquidation, but near the close some buying activity directed at new crop months brought prices to highs for the day.

At the close, wheat was 1⅛ to ⅞ cents a bushel higher, March 1.29¼; corn was 1⅛ to ⅝ lower, March 1.13¾; oats were ⅝ to 1⅜ lower, March 70⅜ cents; rye was ¼ to ⅝ higher, March 1.18; and soybeans were ¼ lower to ¼ higher, March 2.61½.

Suit Seeks $750,000 Damages In Connection With Minatare Feedlot Operation Investigatio

Omaha (AP) — A suit seeking damages of about $750,000 has been filed in U.S. District Court here by the Kern County Land Co. of Bakersfield, Calif., as an aftermath of an investigation into its huge cattle feedlot operation at Minatare.

Company officials have said that KCL's losses at Minatare and at cattle feeding operations near Bakersfield may run as high as $10 million.

Leland A. Charlton, one of two managers of KCL's Minatare operation, has pleaded guilty to embezzlement charges in District Court in Gering and is awaiting sentence.

Charlton is not listed as a defendant in KCL's suit, but there are repeated references to him in what KCL charges was a five-year operation to defraud the company.

The defendants in the suit are Lawrence Hogan, KCL's manager at Minatare from December, 1963, until two years later when he became manager at Bakersfield and Charlton became manager at Minatare; Kay Yamada of Mitchell, Dr. Milton Green, Mitchell veterinarian; the Mitchell Cattle and Land Co., and Prescription Pre-Mix, Inc., of Minatare.

Hogan, who left KCL's employment in December, 1966, is charged with converting to his own use at least 1,750 head of cattle, each worth at least $250. Hogan's whereabouts are unknown. Embezzlement charges were filed against him in Scotts Bluff County Court last September.

The suit alleges at least $578,896 was involved in kickbacks to Hogan and Charlton.

KCL charges that Hogan falsified records, posted false death notices of cattle, and filed reports of cattle shipments received which gave less than the correct numbers. The suit asks $338,000 from Hogan.

The suit further charges that Green, Hogan and Charlton formed the Prescription Pre-Mix company Feb. 5, 1965 and said Yamada was a party to the alleged conspiracy and had an interest in Prescription Pre-Mix.

The suit says that Prescription Pre-Mix sold feed to KCL at $6 a ton over the market price. It asks judgement of $115,470 for t sales by Prescription P Mix.

According to the su Yamada was hired to cle pens at Minatare for $5 p hour. The suit alleges worked only 5 hours but w paid $18,495 on the basis 3,740 hours of work.

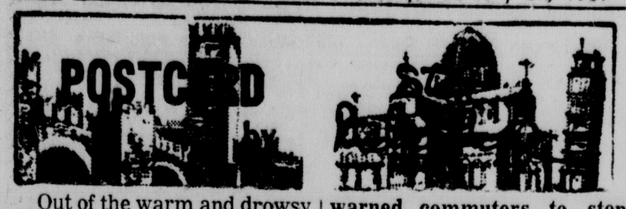
Galaxie 500 4-door.



Out of the warm and drowsy Caribbean, into cold and pushy New York. Whoosh! Whether jet travel is a blessing or a curse has yet to be decided by the world's medics.

A head of a United Nations health program was asked that by travel writers meeting here.

Q: "Dr. do you have any idea what supersonic plane flying will do to the individual's health?"

A: "I haven't the slightest idea. Maybe the Air Force has done studies of this, but I simply don't know."

Coming from south to north, there's only an hour of time change. No problem. It's the east-west crossing with many hours of time change that is the killer.

Kennedy Airport is still stacked up with planes trying to land. Not enough air controllers and not enough field. We all want to go and arrive at the same time.

An airline captain said: "Every passenger wants to leave home at 9 a.m. and arrive here in time for dinner. And vice versa."

The captains say it's somewhat hairy getting out of New York.

"Especially when the weather's bad and visibility is low. There's a lot of planes up there going very fast.

"Then we've got noise control — our noise is monitored over settled areas where we're supposed to cut back the engines. You can't have altitude and less engine noise.

"I wouldn't say the cutback in speed is critical. But all the same I'd like to pour on the coal and get up and out."

"You wouldn't believe it now, the snow was as high as your head," says P. J. Moriarty of the famous chophouses.

I was in Manhattan during a big snow a couple of years ago, and it was eerie stuff.

By afternoon, the radios warned commuters to stop work. Get to the trains. The sky was melancholy gray.

It was freezing weather, and a cold wind blew down the avenues.

By evening the snow was coming down. A silent, soft murderer throttling the city.

In the morning when I went out it was beautiful. Wall-to-wall white snow wherever you looked. Nothing moving. No cars. No buses. No taxis.

The streets were silent. Way down Park Avenue, there was one snow plow struggling in the drifts. The only hotel help were those who stayed overnight. People stayed in the bar for the comfort of each other and listened to the radio tell them that New York was magically frozen in time and space.

The big white cruise ships are loading along the icy Hudson River. It's cruise ship time when Easterners sail for the summer seas of the Caribbean.

(And how are Mr. Information and Cut-rate Charlie and Egbert doing in warm Jamaica this fine day?)

While the Caribbean is diamond expensive, you can fly down for $45. From New York's snow to Puerto Rico's sunny beaches.

Water 70 degrees. Clear down to 30 white sand feet.

A travel man here said: "I wish a could build a few islands down there. Give me a sandspit and I can put a hotel on it with hundred percent occupancy."

Though it's been bitter cold, New Yorkers are cheered today by the Bureau of Communicable Diseases which says:

"Hong Kong flu and other respiratory diseases are not caused by outside cold no matter what your grandmother may have told you."

(Then they went on to say just about what grandma did say: Button up your overcoat and wear your rubbers.)
